SKINNY KIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

It won't be long now. I'm expecting Martin Murray to come through with his 1937-8 rainy season predictions. Murray has been steadily increasing the reputation of Orange county as the home of the weather prophet. Why not? For a long time Father Richard popularized Santa Clara, Gin Chow enlarged Lompoc on the publicity map, and I'm standing by Martin Murray to advance the reputation of Huntington Beach, other than as an important oil city, with occasional flares from the state legislatures. Murray's forecasts last year furnished a number of direct hits. He doesn't guess. His calculations are an astronomical study. He has scientific reasoning back of his predictions. This department watches them during the season with not a little interest, and inasmuch as a Valencia orange grove is one of my responsibilities, much concern.

Has my friend Berry been masquerading? All the time I have known him as Noel and now along come a reporter who tries to make me think he was a descendant of the man who built the ark.

The supreme court packing plan has been packed back to the committee and it ain't goin' to be unpacked. It looks like the presidential measure had gone to the political mortuary. And then the veto of the farm loan interest rate rode through the senate. Score: Two major defeats for the President. Still the total shows a big percentage on his side.

Took a trip over the 93 mile Carmel-San Simeon highway through the courtesy of John Creighton, who gave me a copy of the July number of "California," the official journal of the department of public works. I didn't even have to leave my desk. Turned the pages of the magazine and enjoyed every mile of the journey. Didn't even stop at a hot-dog stand. Just enjoyed the going and the magnificent scenery. I passed a scene personally to meditate over the marvel of construction and the victory of engineering accomplishment. I would, some day, like to get a closer-up.

Attorney tells me it is legal to play draw poker in California, but it isn't advisable. Say, I found that out many years ago.

Santa Ana appeared on the broadcasting ether Thursday evening when Willard Bassett sang over the Mayor Bowes program from New York City. Willard let 'em know he was from the biggest town in the best county in the United States, that he wasn't ashamed of his church identifications, his family, or friends, and then sang his way into the hearts of his audience with his smoothly flowing tenor voice. Willard is the soloist for the Elks double quartet. He sang with the group at the Elks grand lodge convention in Denver. He proved to be a good salesman for Santa Ana, as well as the company for which he is employed. Bassett won out for the Bowes audition over a field of 500.

And then there was the fellow who told me about certain city abandoning a vacation school playground program for children because there wasn't enough shade for the supervisors.

I'm not worrying much about how many packing house managers they arrest for shipping frozen fruit, just so the grower gets a good price for what he does sell, and a square deal from the inspectors and from competitive products.

Angered by charges of Communist leadership of the Costa Mesa Workers' Alliance after a newspaperwoman was thrown out of a meeting, President Ed Stevenson walked out of the organization today. Threats to "throw the whole membership list in jail" if they demonstrate against WPA roll cuts were made by Constable William Ponting of Newport township as Costa Mesa seethed with excitement over the discovery.

SUIT FACING SHERIFF ON TANGO RAID

Threat of a lawsuit hung over Sheriff Logan Jackson's head today as a result of his Thursday night raid on a tango parlor. The outcome depends on a few sheets of paper with some typewriting on them.

The sheets of paper, which are expected here next week, will be an opinion by Attorney General U. S. Webb, deciding whether or not the new way of playing tango is legal.

If it is illegal, Jackson will be sustained in his raid of Thursday night, when seven of his crack deputies hauled away tango equipment from Van's Tango parlor at Balboa, last remaining gambling house after other establishments were closed Monday.

If the new tango is legal, Jackson probably will be sued. District Attorney W. F. Menton said today he had requested an opinion from Webb, but had received no ruling at the time Jackson's men made their raid on the Balboa establishment. Menton's advice to Jackson, he said, will depend on what Webb says.

An attorney for the tango operators conferred with him yesterday. Menton said, about whether Jackson was justified in hauling away their equipment and storing it after the raid, and Menton told the attorney his decision would depend on Webb's.

The old game of tango has been found illegal. But the variety (See MENTON WAITS, Page 2)

TENSION EASES IN CHINA WAR

TIENSIN. (AP)—War tension in North China apparently eased today though the influx of Japanese troops and the presence of Japanese troops pointed to danger spots where friction might renew the warlike dispute between Chinese and Japanese military forces.

The Chinese withdrawal of the 37th division from the Peiping area, Japan's first condition for settling the trouble, that started July 7 during Japanese troop maneuvers west of Peiping. A Japanese army officer at Tangku, Tiensin's seaport, declared however, that "this war is not yet over by any means."

NEW ACT MAY RESTRICT COURT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Connally (D., Tex.) announced today he would try to write into the skeleton judiciary reorganization bill a provision to restrict issuance of injunctions by lower court judges.

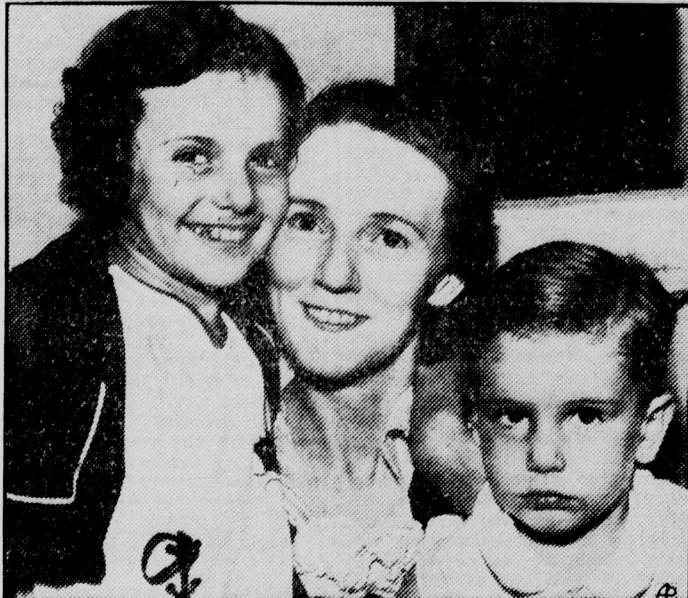

In a formal statement, Connally predicted the new measure, agreed upon by senate leaders in place of the President's court bill, would include a clause "prohibiting the issuance of injunctions restraining the enforcement of acts of congress on the ground of their unconstitutionality by a single judge of a federal inferior court."

Connally said, "There is no reason in permitting a single district judge to issue an injunction staying an act of congress."

Vote Tuesday

Orange county's chance to get a $15,000,000 flood control and water conservation project at a cost to local taxpayers of only $2,500,000 comes next Tuesday. Every citizen should vote. Make Tuesday a red letter day by going to the polls and marking your ballot "yes."

Prefers Mother to Wealth

Refusing a trust fund and a home with her paternal grandmother, Elaine Harnett, 9, shown with her brother, Bobby, 3, and her mother, Mrs. Veronica Harnett, chose to live in more humble circumstances with her mother. Judge Walter J. La Buy gave the child a chance in Chicago court to choose her future.

Naked Army Will Bare Troubles

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Persons in the west who believe in going naked part of the time—and there is a small army of them—will hold a convention Sept. 11, 12 and 13, a nudist leader announced today. The meeting of delegates from various western sun bathing societies, said bronzed young Hobart Glassey, will be at the sun tanners' resort, Soquel, Calif., near Santa Cruz. An attendance of at least 200 delegates and visitors is expected.

BY-PRODUCTS PLANT LOOMS

Construction of a $200,000 by-products plant in Orange county by the Mutual Orange Distributors loomed as a possibility today following appointment of a committee last night to study the project.

Gathering at the Anaheim Co-operative, directors of the six M. O. D. houses in the county, outlined a plan to plant to handle by-product fruit in this area.

At present there are only privately owned by-product plants in Orange county, it was said. A house with capacity to handle 200 tons per year would cost in the vicinity of $200,000, it was indicated.

SCOTTSBORO CASE DROPPED

DECATUR, Ala. (AP)—Rape charges against five of the nine negro "Scottsboro case" defendants were dropped by the state today.

The state move came after Ozie Powell pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to murder, and the rape accusation against Powell was dropped.

Judge W. W. Callahan gave Powell a 20-year sentence on the assault charge, which rose from an attack on Deputy Sheriff Edgar Blalock in January, 1936.

Olen Montgomery, Willie Robertson, Eugene Williams and Roy Wright were the other defendants ordered freed. They had not been tried since the original hearings at Scottsboro, Ala., in April, 1931.

Thus, in swift and dramatic fashion, the court docket here was cleared of the "Scottsboro case" after more than six years of legal maneuvers.

Second Atlantic Flight Planned

LONDON. (AP)—Another British flying boat will test North Atlantic commercial air lanes next week.

Imperial Airways announced today that the Cambria, sister ship of the Caledonia which made the first survey flight, will take off from Foynes, Irish Free State, next Thursday, July 29, commanded by Captain G. J. Powell.

L. A. Education to Cost $40,905,911

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Total expenditures of $40,905,911 for operation of the Los Angeles city schools are proposed in a tentative budget which the board of education distributed in booklet form today.

AFL LEADERS OPEN 'RED' PURGE

Oust C.I.O. Organizer; Counter-Move Starts

Labor faction leaders blew the lid off the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. organization fight in Orange county today in a series of sensational developments.

1. A "purge" of the A. F. of L. ranks of "Communist influences" was launched at the Labor Temple last night when leaders voted a mass ouster of Alfred Boelen, C. I. O. organizer and the C. I. O.-affiliated citrus workers union.

2. Boelen revealed plans for a counter-drive and declared that the ouster was a futile gesture, since he and the citrus workers had previously resigned in anticipation of the hostile move.

LOCAL RANKS "PURGED"

Boelen and "other C. I. O. adherents" were removed from the membership roster of the A. F. of L. last night as their labor ranks were purged of alleged "Communist organizers" in what portended today to be a sweeping drive to rid federation rolls of all C. I. O. organizers.

But Boelen today denied that he is a Communist, or that the C. I. O. is Communist. He said, however, that Communists are as welcome in the C. I. O. organization as members of any other political party.

Labor leaders who voted to oust Boelen and his associates asserted that he used the name of the A. F. of L. to solicit members for a union that he knew soon would be (See AFL CHARGES, Page 2)

REBELS CLAIM BIG VICTORY

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier. (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today claimed a "brilliant victory" on Madrid's western front.

A communique from his general headquarters while acknowledging a lack of information as to details, asserted the insurgents were victorious in a counter drive against government troops in the Brunete sector, 15 miles west of Madrid, near the Guadarrama river.

Government troops still held Brunete, tip of the 100-square-mile slice cut from insurgent rear guard positions, the communique disclosed. It added, however, that fall of the strategic point was "imminent."

Insurgents declared that as a result of the "recent victories" government troops able to take part in the fighting were reduced by from 15,000 to 40,000.

HELIUM GAS SALE APPROVED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate military committee approved today a bill permitting sale of helium gas for use in foreign passenger-carrying airships.

The measure, considered at extensive hearings after the destruction of the hydrogen-inflated German dirigible Hindenburg, also provides for a government monopoly of the rare helium gas.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin designer and manufacturer, testified on behalf of the bill at the committee's hearing.

Remove Officer Of Tennessee

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The navy department has assigned Capt. Edwin A. Wolleson to command the Battleship Tennessee, which ran aground in San Francisco bay June 11.

Captain John T. G. Stapler, the present commander of the Tennessee, was sent to the Asiatic fleet. Stapler lost ten numbers on the promotion list on recommendation of a general court martial called to investigate the grounding.

Lieut. Commander H. H. Smith, navigating officer of the Tennessee at the time of the accident, lost 50 numbers on the promotion list.

File $25,000 Love Balm Case Against City Hall Secretary

Mrs. Ruby Bush, secretary to City Auditor Lloyd Banks, today was accused of stealing the love of a middle-aged Los Angeles pipe salesman, whose wife filed a $25,000 alienation of affection suit here against the city employee. Mrs. Edith P. Crooke charged in a complaint filed today in superior court that Mrs. Bush enticed George Arthur Crooke away from her home "on divers occasions," finally resulting in Crooke's leaving his wife.

"Distress of mind, body and estate" were cited by Mrs. Crooke as reason for asking judgment for $25,000. She alleges Mrs. Bush "wittily and wrongfully, with the intent to injure plaintiff and deprive her of his affection, support, fellowship, security, aid and assistance and destroy his affections for her," lured Crooke away from his wife.

The Crookes were married in Kentucky, Jan. 11, 1911, the complaint alleges, and have lived in California 17 years. Crooke has been a salesman for a pipe concern which has had business with the city of Santa Ana. The complaint was filed by George W. Zent, Hollywood attorney.

KIDNAPER TO DIE FOR CRIME

ALTON, Mo. (AP)—Robert Kenyon, 23 year old Ozarks farm laborer, was formally sentenced today to die in the gallows for the slaying of Dr. J. C. B. Davis of Willow Springs, Mo. Judge William E. Barton of Houston scheduled the execution for Thursday, Sept. 2.

The condemned youth, without sign of remorse, stood before Judge Barton when he pronounced sentence. He then turned to an officer and asked for a cigarette, which he lighted without any indication of nervousness.

MUSSOLINI THREATENS WAR

MILAN, Italy. (AP)—Il Popolo D'Italia, Premier Mussolini's newspaper, declared today that "reality" some day would overwhelm international "make believe" and well informed persons said this "reality" was war.

The newspaper's slashing 750-word editorial was attributed to Il Duce himself.

It cited as one item of a group of "fictions" the belief that some day world war debts to the United States would be paid. Another "fiction," the newspaper said, was the belief abroad that Valencia is the real seat of the Spanish government.

"One day all these castles of cards will be overwhelmed by reality which in time has had a single, grave and unsubstitutable name," the article added without using the word "war."

SEEK SLAYER OF THREE FARMERS

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies are seeking a man who shot and killed three brothers as they worked in their fields and wounded a 12-year-old boy.

Sheriff Helmer Myre of Alberta, Lea, said the man wanted was Jens Thompson, 33, bachelor farmer, who fled in an automobile after the shooting late yesterday 12 miles southwest of here.

The victims were Louis, Joe and Anton Lukes, Jr. Faye Lukes, 12, son of Louis Lukes, was critically wounded.

Relatives of the slain men said they knew of no motive for the shootings.

Deaths Laid to Atlantic Heat

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The census bureau attributes an increase in deaths during the week ended July 17 to the heat wave.

Deaths in 86 major cities totaled 8933 for the week, an increase of 1265, or 16 per cent, over the previous week, the bureau said today.

Cities along the Atlantic coast showed the greatest increase.

CIO SCORES POLICY OF ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The capital speculated today over what the reaction of the Roosevelt administration would be to the first C.I.O. criticism of its policies during the mid-west steel strikes.

The steel workers' organizing committee reported to the executive board of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

The federal government through this entire situation has not displayed the slightest interest in protecting the rights of the steel workers on strike, which have been so flagrantly disregarded. "Violations of the national statutes such as the national firearms act, by the steel corporations have produced no activity on the part of national officials."

Administration leaders made no immediate reply to the statement, which came from Lewis' two major unions. The C. I. O. chieftain and the mine workers were active in support of President Roosevelt's candidacy for re-election last year.

RUTTER DEATH ACCIDENTAL

K. V. Willet, young March field soldier who was driving the car in which George Rutter, a fellow soldier, received fatal accident injuries, today was exonerated of any blame for the death. A coronary jury pronounced the crash accidental. The inquest was held in the Winbiger mortuary.

Offer $2000 for Amelia Clues

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Sydney S. Bowman, close friend of George Palmer Putnam announced today a reward of $2000 would be paid for information which would "definitely clear up the mystery" surrounding the disappearance of Amelia Earhart, and her navigator, Captain Fred Noonan.

Bowman said the reward would be paid promptly for the recovery and delivery of any part of the Earhart plane, of its contents which might be identified, and which would clearly reveal the fate of the missing fliers.

While the announcement came from Pan-Pacific Press bureau here, of which Bowman is head, Vice President E. E. Brodie of the bureau revealed that the $2000 was being posted by Putnam.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

These bright and cheerful girls who are the life of the party have no trouble havin' all the beaux they want but I want'a tell you, when a fella is figgerin' on gettin' married, he wants a girl with some domestic qualities. We had one of them butterfly type of girls down home one time. The boys all liked to take her to ice cream socials and things like that, but none of 'em would propose to her. Finally, two strangers came to town and they both started courtin' her.

One day one of 'em told the other one, he says, "I know this is gonna hurt you but I proposed to Maimy and she accepted me." He said, "The reason I proposed to her is because underneath her gaiter, I know she's a home-body because every night she sits there and darns her father's socks." The other fella says, "Well, she put near caught me on that, too, until I noticed it was always the same sock!"

FINISH NEW DRAFT FOR COURT BILL

Ignore Supreme Court In New Legislation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A senate judiciary sub-committee virtually completed today a tentative draft of legislation designed to speed lower court procedure. It would serve as a substitute for the President's original court reorganization bill which included supreme court enlargement.

Members of the sub-committee named to draft the new bill indicated it might be ready to report to the senate sometime next week. The group agreed to add the new legislation to a minor house bill on the judiciary which already is awaiting senate action.

Senator McCarran (D., Nev.), a vigorous opponent of the original Roosevelt measure, said the sub-committee had "covered in general terms all parts of the program" which administration chiefs had indicated they would accept.

The draft tentatively agreed upon does not even mention the supreme court.

They come and go with a regularity that has not varied so far as time is concerned since "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth," and that was a long time ago, according to the calendars. I've noticed that hasn't varied much since I started to make observations. The weeks end, and after about four of them have gone by the rent comes due, and there is a routine that becomes monotonous and expensive. Maybe life is worth living, but you have to have the money to sustain it.

Mrs. Ella Avery Dies at Home

Mrs. Ella Quinn Avery, 68, died at her home, 502 South Broadway yesterday after an illness of one year.

A resident of Santa Ana for the past 13 years, Mrs. Avery was a member of the Order of Eastern Star and of the First Presbyterian church. She was born in Medo, Minn., in 1869 and moved to California in 1924.

Mrs. Avery is survived by a sister, Miss Carrie B. Quinn of Wells, Minn., and one brother, A. W. Quinn of Fresno, Calif. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday from the Smith and Tuttle chapel, with the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Interment will be at Fairhaven cemetery.

Death Calls Famed Showman

SAN PEDRO, (AP)—William Barlow, 85, surviving member of the once renowned Barlow Brothers Minstrels, died in comparative obscurity here yesterday.

The two Barlow brothers took their show to almost every civilized country of the world late in the nineteenth century. William went into the managerial end of the theater business after the show disbanded, once operating the Orpheum theater in San Francisco. He also was associated with the late Alexander Pantages in Los Angeles, and then operated hotels in Honolulu, Seattle and California.

Scandinavians To Honor Editor

Scandinavian residents of Orange county will gather at the Bit of Sweden restaurant in Fullerton at 9:30 p. m. Sunday night to honor A. W. Delquest, associate editor of the Pacific Coast Viking, Scandinavian tabloid.

Delquest will be in Santa Ana Sunday night to deliver the principal address on the Institute of Liberal Religion series at the Unitarian church. The reception and dinner will follow the evening services with the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, pastor of the Unitarian church, as an additional guest.

Widow of Senate Leader Is Urged to Enter Campaign

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Democrat said today that Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, widow of the late senate majority leader, was being urged to become a candidate in the special election which will be called to fill the senate vacancy caused by the death of the husband.

A life-long Democrat, she would, if she agreed to run, have to offer herself as an independent in the election against Gov. Carl E. Bailey, who was designated yesterday.

MENTON WAITS TANGO RULING

The house takes no percentage, charging five cents per card for "rent" of the equipment. The players do the gambling by making up "pools" which go to the winner. "I'm not at all sure," Menton said today, whether the operators of the place are guilty of running a gambling establishment. A player could go in there and play for hours without betting, and the players who do bet apparently do it independently of the management. However, that's a matter for the attorney general to decide.

PARLORS CLOSED

Meanwhile gambling interests awaited the outcome, their businesses closed for the time being. In Los Angeles county, District Attorney Burton Fitts directed a sweeping campaign against gambling and vice. Sheriff Jackson announced yesterday he intended to "stop gambling in Orange county."

In Los Angeles Fitts said the Les Bruneman shooting last Monday was "the first overt act of what may develop into a war between factions of gangsters and gamblers."

Bruneman, beach gambling boss, was in the back while walking at Redondo beach, was in the Torrance hospital today. Physicians said he would recover.

Examinations for Window Washers?

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Window washers and many other classes of workers which were thought to be exempt from the state civil service have been placed under the jurisdiction of the state personnel board, Harry S. Riley, state controller, said today. The controller made the statement after being advised the state supreme court had refused a hearing in a test case in which the district court of appeal had ruled the hiring of non-civil service window washers was illegal under the constitutional amendment adopted in 1934.

Order Buffalo Meat Embargo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The International Longshoremen's association clamped a meat embargo on Buffalo today as Dr. John P. Boland, state labor board chairman, called conferences in an attempt to settle the four day strike of 2000 food handlers.

Stewards of the Longshoremen's association announced they would allow no more meat shipments unloaded in Buffalo after wholesale grocery truck drivers and butchers extended their strike to a fourth meat packing firm.

Recover Body Of Fisherman

GENERAL GRANT PARK, (AP)—The body of Ivan Hopkins, 40, of Fresno, who had been missing since the morning of July 4th, was found today by two fishermen near the junction of Ten Mile creek and the Kings river. Paul Gerder of Woodlake and John Austin Luca of Porterville, Emperor at Crystal Springs, found the body.

Seek Truck Stuck in Creek

Sheriff's deputies had a new kind of search on their hands last night when they were called out to track down one of the Pacific Freight company's big trucks.

The tractor and semi-trailer, as the truck was described, left Ocean side at 3:30 to deliver freight to Trabuco canyon and canyon had gone astray, the company said in calling the sheriff.
So a car was sent searching and the truck was located in Aliso canyon.

"I got stuck in creek back there," the driver explained.

$81,765 Gas Tax Check Arrives

AFL CHARGES ORGANIZER AIDED CIO

Boolen Tells Plans To Organize County

C. I. O. Boolen was elected president of the citrus workers local when it started recently, and a few days later was acting as regional director for C. I. O. agricultural workers.

TALK HERE POSTPONED
At the same time A. F. of L. leaders were deciding on Boolen's fate he sat in a meeting of international C. I. O. workers in the north as citrus representative. He was slated to speak at a mass meeting in the Unitarian church last night, but instead spoke in the north. Leaders said that he will speak here next Tuesday night.

The leaders assert that Boolen last month started C. I. O. activities, using A. F. of L. credentials to organize for the rival faction. A. H. Peterson, personal representative of William L. Green, C. I. O. president, declared last night that the American Federation of Labor will start a "determined" drive to replenish the dwindled ranks of the citrus local.

Union heads pointed out today that Boolen's asserted C. I. O. activities have resulted in failure in attempts to organize citrus workers. They say that Boolen, personally, is responsible for failure of the union to grow, and that they will start rebuilding immediately.

BOOLEN DENIES CHARGE

In a statement to The Journal today, Boolen said that statements published yesterday in another daily newspaper here concerning the status of his organization were absolutely false. He said that the citrus workers voted unanimously last Wednesday to join the C. I. O. and apply for a charter. This charter is expected back within 10 days. Boolen said when his union withdrew from the A. F. of L. it took every member of the citrus local with it. There are 28 such members, he said.

"Last night," Boolen said, "Pedro P. Peterson, state federation of labor representative, directed the central labor council to oust the citrus union. The meeting was held for that purpose."

However, we anticipated the ouster and returned the charter to the A. F. of L. at Washington, D. C., last Wednesday.

"I was in conference with Harry Bridges, Pacific Coast director of the C. I. O. when this meeting was taking place. I anticipated the intention of actually fighting the A. F. of L. except in an organizational race to bring workers into our union. If any difficulties arise between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. it will not be because the C. I. O. wishes it so."

Boolen said the C. I. O. plans to set up a county-wide council in Orange county, representing C. I. O. affiliates and others wishing to cooperate. He announced that the C. I. O. today is starting an intensive program of organization to bring the level of the workers living standard up to an average of $25 a week.

The organization he represents as regional director for four counties is the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing House and Allied Workers' Union of America, with which the local citrus union is affiliated. The union embraces packing house workers, field workers and everyone in the agricultural lines of work.

Secretary J. A. Trendle of the central labor council, told The Journal today that the A. F. of L. "will have a real citrus workers' union now."

PLAN MASS MEETING
On other organization fronts A. F. of L. activities seem to be progressing. Plans for a mass meeting of cannery workers in Fullerton Thursday night are being completed by Trendle. Trendle, it is reported, has instructions from Peterson to "get a good big hall, and forget the expense."

PRICE FIXING BILL GIVEN TO HOUSE

Would Relax Anti-Trust Laws in 42 States

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The house probably will take up Tuesday senate approved legislation legalizing price fixing between manufacturers and retailers in 42 states. The legislation, which the senate tacked onto a district of Columbia tax bill, would relax federal anti-trust law restrictions on price agreements in states authorizing such practice.

The senate voted for it yesterday, several months after President Roosevelt objected to Vice President Garner that the measure would tend to raise prices at a time when living costs were advancing too rapidly.

An amendment was adopted prohibiting agreements between manufacturers or between retailers fixing prices. Senator Tydings (D., Md.) said this eliminated administration objections. Rep. Miller (D., Ark.) house sponsor of the legislation, said its sole objective was to effectuate state fair trade practices designed to eliminate price cutting, particularly the retail practice of offering "loss leaders" to draw customers.

Miller declared the legislation would help the small retailer in his struggle against "monopolistic chain organizations."

Rule Held On Check Charges

Samuel F. Rule, arrested in Santa Ana Wednesday on a charge of issuing a fictitious check, today was held to answer to his charges in Justice of the Peace Call Lester's court in Orange.

Rule assertedly received change for a $43 fictitious check given in payment of rent to Maude I. Jamison, 641 East Palm street, Orange.

clerk's local, declared last night that he confidently expects a membership roster of "more than 1000 clerks" by the first of the year.
Dan Kelly, a Los Angeles organizer, will move into this region to continue organization work among haul carriers, building and common laborers, it was reported. Bertha Graham, Long Beach labor organizer, cancelled her projected meeting of culinary workers. Two people attended their meeting.

Diego Hernandez, Mexico, was jailed by immigration officers charged with illegal entry.

Science Martyr Eyes Death From Bites of Insects

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Dr. Edward Francis of the National Institute of Health, has for the fourth time intentionally contracted a dangerous disease, public health service officials said today, to prove that bacteria carried by insects caused disease in man.

The 65-year-old scientist is now recovering at the Marine hospital in Baltimore, Md., from relapsing fever, a disease which suddenly appeared in the southwestern part of the United States about five years ago. He acquired it by letting a small tick bite him.

Three times before he has missed by small margins the fate of becoming a "martyr of science." In each case he intentionally contracted the disease—typhus, undulant fever and tularemia, a mountain spotted fever—as the final step in research work.

$150 DRIVING FINE LEVIED

Fletcher Reed, 1022 East La Habra, yesterday became the fourth person in a week to pay the maximum penalty for drunken driving. He was fined $150 in Santa Ana police court.

Eleven other persons paid a total of $77 for speeding.
John C. Carter, 520 West Malvern, Fullerton, $8; Raymond O. Bowers, 402 East Fourth street, $8; Herman J. Hanson, 1657 East First street, $5; O. M. Rodick, 272 North Olive street, Orange, $8; Charles R. Hill, 4600 South Van Ness, Los Angeles, $8; Earl A. Kidd, Tustin, $8; Robert W. Yeager, Jr., 1102 Spurgeon street, $8; Billie D. Henderson, 1130 Lyora street, $8; Gordon L. Lockett, 2036 North Broadway, $8; Lawrence Morales, Atwood, $8; and Donald A. Speck, 1238 Cypress street, $8.

Jumping a traffic signal cost Harold Sweet, 415 South Madison street, Brea, $2; R. V. Bechtel, 1514 West Fourth street, paid $1 for overtime parking.

2 START DRUNK DRIVING TERMS

Sentenced for drunken driving, Clarence M. Wallace, 320 Buena Vista street, Balboa, and John Felix Hendran, Los Angeles, today began long terms in the county jail.
Wallace was sentenced to 49 days in Newport Beach and Hendran to 75 days in Anaheim.
Eddie Shea of Newport Beach was committed for a 15 day sentence after pleading guilty to reckless driving in Newport Beach. Charged with non-support of a minor child, Claude S. Holman, 223 Maine avenue, Balboa Island, was brought to the jail from the Costa Mesa Justice of the Peace court under $500 bail.
Diego Hernandez, Mexico, was jailed by immigration officers charged with illegal entry.

HOLD BEDROOM THEFT SUSPECT

Santa Ana's bedroom burglar may have been caught.

Sitting in the county jail today is Gerald Hefner, 320 1/2 East Chestnut street, the only suspect yet arrested in connection with a string of petty thefts in half a dozen homes within the last two weeks.
The charge against Hefner is vagrancy, which in this case, police said, is another word for peeping tom.

Two residents on First street and Wright streets can testify that they saw Hefner looking in their windows. Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford said.

In the man's possession at the time of his arrest was a glass cutter and a pair of orange packers gloves. Wolford said he has reason to believe that a glass cutter had been used to cut screens in the recent burglaries.

Crash Driver Out On $500 Bail

The misdemeanor charge of drunken driving, made against Daisaku Yoshida, Long Beach, after he was involved in an accident last week, today was changed to one of felony, and he was released after posting $500 bond in justice of the peace court. Preliminary hearing in the case was set for Aug. 2.

Yoshida was driving a truck that crashed into the car of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Gordon, 825 South Broadway, on Bolsa Chico avenue last Saturday.
Injuries suffered by Mrs. Gordon brought the new charge against Yoshida.

GRASSHOPPER HORDE LOSES AT EL TORO

Ranchers Down Pest; Campaign Next Fall

Threat to bean crops in the El Tero district from hordes of grasshoppers appeared to have diminished today.

County Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs told The Journal that the inspector he sent down to help ranchers and to investigate the situation reported today that it is too late in the season to launch comprehensive control measures.

Tubbs, however, plans to seek government assistance to stamp out the pests next season. He pointed out that ranchers in the rich district have been afflicted with the grasshopper pest for the last several seasons.

The grasshoppers this season moved through many acres of beans in the El Tero district, mowing down row after row of beans. The hungry pests ate bean plants down to the roots.

On the Frank Groover ranch it was necessary to replant a 200-acre field of beans three times because of the grasshoppers. The pests were so thick it was difficult to see the ground and horses refused to work anywhere near them.

Passenger Hurt; Driver Cited

Ramona Borboa, 602 East Eleventh street, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital with severe lacerations of the face and arm after an automobile crash-up on Newport road below Santa Ana yesterday evening. He was a passenger. The cars were driven by Alfonso Mendez, 602 East Fourth street, and Don Wedel, 402 East Sixth street. Mendez was given a citation for having no driver's license. Borboa was released from the hospital today.

WALTER R. ROBB

The poor Republicans just don't get anywhere these days. Not even in congress. The Democrats out-manuever them every time. The great supreme court fight has ended without a Republican speech having been made. Destined to be filed away with the keepsakes of senators are the speeches of the upper-house legislators never delivered. They can't even be placed in print in the Congressional Record for their children to read. And thus the posterity of the leading lights of the Republican party will never be privileged to know to what great heights of forensic oratory their grandfathers could attain. One exception should be noted which is the shortest and most expressive speech of record in the entire fight. It was the speech of Sen. Hiram W. Johnson when he shouted, "Glory be to God." Leave it to the California senator to get into the Congressional Record and the eye of the public. And the manner in which he does it is mighty effective also. But in general the credit for the saving of America through the defeat of the President's pet measure will go to the effective opposition exerted by the members of the Democratic party in the senate body. It will be their speeches which will be found in the Congressional Record. That's what can be called real manuevering. The President got the party in a jam, and the Democratic senators get the credit for saving the party and the country. Dr. Francis E. Townsend has done some mighty fancy manuevering, but he can't hold a candle to the dodos cut by the Democrats in the supreme court fight.

Santa Ana Club No. 2 will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, with P. R. Long as the presiding officer. The public is cordially invited.

Orange Club No. 1 meets Monday evening in the Townsend club building, 149 South Glassell street, at 7:30 o'clock. J. A. Green says tell the public a cordial welcome will be extended.

La Habra Club No. 1, with E. E. Ford in the chair, will hold its regular weekly meeting at 7:30 Monday evening in the Masonic hall. The membership is urged to attend.

Fullerton Club No. 1 will meet at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening in the Ebell club building, with Mrs. Ota Everett in the chair. The location is at East Chapman and Harvard avenues.

The Tustin club will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the social hall of the Presbyterian church, with D. L. Thomas in the chair as the newly elected president in charge. The public is welcome.

Mrs. Lottie Pickering of Santa Ana Club No. 8 and R. E. Marks of club 10 both write this column to say that different arrangements have been made for the "Mountain" entertainment from Possum Trot Haller's entertainment next Tuesday night than has been previously announced. Instead of meeting in the Lincoln school, the entertainment will be in Santa Ana Townsend hall, at 509 West Fourth street, beginning at 7:30 next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Glenn Will Teach at Scripps

Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn, 202 East Ninth street, has accepted a position to teach French and German classes at Scripps college for the fall semester, according to word received from Dr. Ernest J. Jaqua, president of Scripps college, here this week.

Mrs. Glenn is teaching at Scripps college at the present time for the summer session. She has formerly been an instructor at St. Elizabeth college in New Jersey, at Middlebury college in Vermont, and at the University of Southern California summer session.

A native of Strasbourg, France, Mrs. Glenn has diplomas from the University of Paris at the Sorbonne and College de Seville in Paris. She was awarded a medal by the French government several years ago for her work in teaching French to foreign students.

Mrs. Glenn is the wife of Thomas H. Glenn, head of the English department of Santa Ana Junior college. They were married in France in 1932, where Mrs. Glenn's father is a professor at the present time.

WALSH SUES TOWNSEND 'REBELS'

Asks $300 for Being Tossed Out of Office

Warring factions of the Townsend pension movement have reached the courts today, with District Organizer J. H. Walsh of Costa Mesa filing suit in San Bernardino to regain possession of Townsend headquarters in that city. Walsh claims he was "thrown out" by three members of the city control board.

Walsh sued in behalf of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., against S. L. Wingert, chairman of the Townsend city board and former district head; Ralph H. Logsdon and Jasper Parvin for $300 and restoration of the premises.

"By force, threats, and violence," the Costa Mesa alleges, they "ousted and ejected plaintiff and plaintiff's agents" from the San Bernardino headquarters.

Leaders of the opposing faction are Wingert, assistant district head; Harry Sheppard of this district who had announced a split with Dr. Townsend because of the pension plan founder's opposition to the Roosevelt court program.

Wingert claims a following of 80 per cent of San Bernardino Townsend club members, while Walsh's loyal faction claims 85 per cent of pension advocates in San Bernardino and 97 per cent in the entire district of Orange, San Bernardino, and Riverside counties.

Evening services for many Santa Ana churches will be suspended tomorrow night to allow members to attend the tent revival meeting now being held by the Association of Holiness Churches at 2700 North Main street.

Sermons during the week's evangelistic services are delivered by the pastors of the various Orange county churches participating.

Sermons are held each evening at 7:30 o'clock, with morning sessions at 10:30 a. m. Churches taking part in the revival campaign are the Free Methodist churches of Santa Ana, Anaheim, and Garden Grove; the Nazarene church of Santa Ana; Midway city and Anaheim; the Holy Mennonite church of Orange, and the Holiness church of Santa Ana.

REGULATION SOUGHT FOR AIR LINES

Ask Removal Air Mail Control From P. O.

NEW YORK. (AP)—The air transport business is clamoring to be regulated. It wants the government to step in and specify tariffs, assign routes and determine where healthful competition ends and ruinous competition begins.

It wants someone besides the post office to take over control of bill perennials, portmanteaus, the air mail, and right there the air transport business comes to cross purposes with Washington.

Air transport and the post office department are ready for a showdown on Capitol Hill on the question of regulation. The post office insists everything is going along nicely now. The air carriers differ.

Intended by its author, Senator McCarran of Nevada, to ease the birth pains of the air business, a bill intended to vest the interstate commerce commission with authority over routes, rates and revenues of the commercial carriers is being pushed for enactment, if possible, during this session of congress.

In counter-attack, a bill intended to give the post office department an even greater measure of authority over the air lines is awaiting action in the house.

REALTORS HIT BAR ATTITUDE

The Santa Ana realty board has met the challenge of the state bar association that realtors in general are unlawfully practicing law by voting a refusal to appoint a committee to meet with the attorney's association to discuss the matter.

The question of the right of realtors to draw up papers necessary in property transactions was raised in a meeting of a committee on unlawful practice of law of the California state realty association in Los Angeles. William Croddy represented the local board at the meeting held yesterday.

Croddy said that attorneys are charging that licensed real estate agents have not the right to draw up deeds, contracts of sale and other papers either in connection with their own transactions or for compensation.

The board here agreed that such charges are unjustified, basing their contentions on precedent and vague statutes defining the practice of law.

Croddy recommended that no action be taken unless the issue is forced by the bar association.

Check Bounces To Cemetery

VENTURA. (AP)—One bad check passer least possessed a sense of humor, though grim.

Police looking for the man who gave a check that bounced, went to the address he gave in cashing the check.

It was the city cemetery.

Week's Citrus Review

Pacific coast citrus markets show that oranges were stronger during the week and that lemons were weaker, the Federal-State Market News Service reported today.

Arrivals continue small. Lemon storage on July 15 by the California Fruit Growers Exchange stood at 217 cars compared to 1509 last year. This is 200 cars below the five year average. T. H. Powell, general sales manager for the exchange, said the exchange is accounting for over 80 per cent of the oranges and between 90 and 95 per cent of the lemons leaving California.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange, reporting on both private and auction sales markets, says:

"California Valencia continued to show improvement this week on a slightly heavier volume of sales. With above normal temperatures forecast in some parts of the country for next week prices are expected to hold firm or rise.

"The total volume of competitive fruit has declined but shipments of peaches, which are keenly competitive to citrus fruits, are increasing.

"FOB prices on California first grade Valencia are as follows: 150s and larger, $4.75-5.00; 176s, $4.90-5.00; 252s, $4.65-5.00; 302s, $3.25-4.00.

"Grapefruit continues firm on large sizes but showed a further decline on smaller sizes. Lemons are lower under heavier supplies and lower temperatures in most markets."

Orange averages for this week and last week, with the corresponding averages for the comparable weeks of 1936 and 1935 follow:

	This Week	Last Week	1936	1935
New York	$3.33	$5.41	$4.14	$3.09

DATE IS SET FOR VOTE ON STATUS OF THREE H.B. OFFICIALS

POLL WILL BE HELD AUG. 3 ON QUESTION

Police Chief, Attorney And Judge Ballot Set

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The first municipal election under the new charter voted recently here will be held Aug. 3.

The election will decide whether or not the city shall elect its city attorney, judge and chief of police. There are two propositions, one for election of chief and one for city judge and attorney, two two last named offices being coupled in the election.

If the propositions or either of them are carried, there must be a second election to decide who among various candidates shall be chosen by the people to fill the offices.

Voters who filed petitions asking the vote failed to file their arguments in favor of the election of the city officers, so there is no argument in favor of the propositions on sample ballots, although there is an argument opposing election of the officers by the people on the sample.

TRAFFIC TAKES FIVE LIVES

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Five persons lost their lives in Southern California traffic accidents within the past 24 hours, it was reported to authorities today.

Lloyd A. Mesler, 52, Fontana, cafe employe, fatally injured when struck by an automobile in Fontana.

Milton A. Fryar, 21, of Long Beach, killed when the Grapevine road near Bakersfield when his car plunged over a grade.

RETAIN QUINN AS S. F. CHIEF

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William Quinn continued today as chief of San Francisco police, quieting rumors that he would resign or be ousted by the police commission, newly organized as one of the results of a graft investigation conducted by the grand jury. The commission announced Quinn would be retained as chief and given a free hand.

Same Name Causes Check by Police

Police today were checking records to see if the Everett R. Hall they arrested last night on a drunken driving charge is the same Everett R. Hall who is wanted in Redfield for grand theft.

The arrested man, who gave his address as 113 North Emily street, Anaheim, was arrested on Flower street between Fourth and Fifth. Dr. P. B. Gillespie examined Hall and pronounced him intoxicated.

Popular Orange Dog Goes On Camping Trip With Boys

ORANGE.—Sport has gone camping, and all small boys of Orange miss him very much.

Thursday morning when a bus rolled away from Orange carrying 28 boys to the Y. M. C. A. camp at Osceola, Sport was crouched at the feet of his masters, Bill and Chauncy Huscroft. He was greeting his friends with short, sharp barks of pleasure.

The friendly wire haired terrier is unusual in many ways. First, in the way he adopted his master. One day as Bill was walking in the Plaza, a dog seized him by the overall leg. Startled, he looked down, expecting to see a cross dog trying to take a bite. But no, this dog was playing a game, and he seemed to be grinning at the boy, while he held on. On to the next corner went the boy, the dog still holding tightly. And from that day the two are inseparable. Sport invariably holds onto Bill's trousers leg when they go places together on foot.

But they do not always go on foot, for Bill has a motorcycle, and Sport rides on the seat, sticking his head under Bill's arm. He even rides the bicycle seat with Chauncy, sometimes.

W. A. Huscroft, father of the boy, says that Sport knows what people are saying, and tells this story to prove it. Doris Mae Easton is 14 months old, and next door neighbor to the Huscrofts. She is a winsome little miss, and a special favorite of the dog. One day Huscroft said teasingly, "that baby is no good," and immediately Sport walked over to him and growled, showing his teeth. "I know he was calling me down," added Huscroft. The dog will not even let children of the neighborhood take Doris Mae's playthings, her mother, Mrs. V. A. Easton, said.

No one knows what Jimmie the Deer at Camp Osceola will think of Sport when the popular dog arrives in camp, but the Huscrofts are betting the two animals become fast friends.

MESA BALLOT DRIVE SET

COSTA MESA.—At a meeting of civic leaders, Tuesday in the Newport Heights Irrigation District office, a committee was formed to work out the most effective methods by which to get out the vote at the flood bond election next Tuesday.

Workers named to be in charge of the campaign were Judge D. J. Dodge, Dick Carlton and William Salisbury.

Attending the meeting were Charles TeWinkle, P. A. Palmer, Dr. C. G. Huston, Howard Woodrough, William Salisbury, Morris Crawley, Leroy P. Anderson and Judge Dodge.

GRANGE BACKS WATER BONDS

Complete endorsement of the water bonds was voted last night at the regular meeting of the Tusin Grange at the home of R. P. Allen.

"The Grange is for the program 100 per cent," E. E. Ulrich, secretary, declared.

Support of the county Grange group was promised at the gathering by Robert Wardlaw, Wintersburg, who represented the outside units.

Half-Minute News Items

SISSY SNAKE

JERSEYVILLE, Ill.—Elmer Holder's pet rattlesnake could dish it out but he couldn't take it. Angered by the slapping lid of its cage, the reptile struck, missed the lid and sank its poisonous fangs deep into its own body. Twenty minutes later it died.

COSTLY CURE

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—Sam B. Freeman found a sure cure for the bugs and insects in his garden—now he wants a cure for the cure. Terrapins he turned loose at the bugs, but then destroyed his tomato plants.

GROWN UP NOW

DEBENTON, Mont.—Ray Moravetz's pet coyote has developed a taste for beer and hamburgers. Jinx lived on milk for a while, but one day the milk failed to arrive. Moravetz tried him on a glass of beer.

Since then Jinx will have nothing else—plus a hamburger or two.

DOOMED

EVANSTON, Ill.—Ten times in more than a month a burglar has entered Evanston homes, pulled down the blinds and ransacked the places after helping himself to food and drink in the ice box.

The crimes were petty, but irritating to police.

So Chief William O. Freeman offered a week's vacation with pay to the officer who captures the burglar.

CHAPTER XXXVI

PATTY LOU was sitting in Mrs. Carlson's cheerful living room.

"I came to tell you," she was saying, "that I'll begin to repay you at once for all that trouble and expense."

"Nonsense," Mrs. Carlson scolded. "Many's the time your Granny helped the Carlsons through sickness. It was an opportunity for me to pay back."

"I have a good job now, starting Monday," Patty Lou insisted. "Mr. Blount is going to give me a good salary."

"That's wonderful honey! But you'll need all you earn. That man who put the roof on your cottage has been hounding me half to death."

"You mean—"

"About his bill. Says, if he doesn't get payment, he's going to make you sign over the property."

"Look!" Mrs. Carlson pointed out the window. "There he is now over at your cottage."

"I'll go talk to him," Patty Lou jumped up. "I'll try to make some arrangement to pay him by the month."

"Don't let him scare you," Mrs. Carlson said. "He's a gruff, ugly-talking fellow."

PATTY LOU hurried over to her cottage, arriving just as the man was about to leave after pounding unsuccessfully on the door.

"How do you do?" Patty Lou said. "I'm Miss Palmer. Did you wish to see me?"

"Yes! And it's about time you showed up!" the man said, in a surly tone. "Who's going to pay my bill?"

"How much is it?" Patty Lou asked.

"One hundred dollars. And you better get it paid or you'll lose this property, see? I'm not letting any more women pull the wool over my eyes! First, that old lady then your nosy neighbor. Now you'll file a lien. Take the property."

"You mustn't!" Patty Lou said frantically.

"Well, then, you pay the bill or—"

"Or what?" said a deep, stern voice.

Patty Lou whirled.

"Dale!"

He was coming through the little gate. Patty Lou stumbled toward him. He caught her in his arms and kissed her tenderly. Then, he released her.

"Just a minute, sweetheart, until I dispose of this fellow." He turned to the man.

"I've seen Alice and how all she snapped, extending his hand for it. 'Give it to me.' He gave the man his card. 'Call at my office on Monday and it will be settled.'"

"Thank you, thank you!" The man looked at the card. "Mr. Northcutt, the young lady is unreasonable. She—"

"Get out before I throw you out!" Dale made a threatening motion toward him.

The man turned and fled.

PATTY LOU's arms went about Dale's neck. Her hand stroked his hair.

"Dale, it's really, truly you!"

"In person."

"Mardell told me. Oh, Dale, she told me you believed all those awful things about me. She said—"

"Honey!" Dale bent and kissed her. "I've seen Alice and how all about it. You poor little kid! What a terrible time you've had! If I only knew! Come into the house and we'll talk it all over."

Seated beside her on the davenport, in the living room, holding her hand, he told her how he had had to leave in a great hurry, how he had tried to see her, how he had left a message with Mardell—little realizing that she would distort it, how he had written and never received any answers to his letters.

Then, he had come home to discover that Mardell had intercepted his letters, and to learn, for the first time, of the terrible sister, Patty Lou had been through as a result of Mardell's villainy.

As he held her tightly in his arms, Patty Lou was too happy to speak. "I've seen Alice and how all about it. You poor little kid! What a terrible time you've had! If I only knew! Come into the house and we'll talk it all over."

"Honey, do you know what day tomorrow is?" Dale whispered.

"September second!" Patty Lou's voice sang.

"Yes, but we're getting married today. We'll go for the license right now, then find a minister and—"

"We must get Mrs. Carlson and Alice," Patty Lou put in.

"All right. The four of us will have a wedding supper with my folks. Oh, Patty Lou, honey!"

"Dale!"

His kisses silenced further words.

CLUBHOUSE AID SOUGHT

LAGUNA BEACH.—An open forum meeting, called to determine the fate of Laguna's 16-year-old Community club, has been set by the club board of directors for Monday, at 7:15 p. m. Ways and means for erasing a total debt of $2573 will be discussed.

When Frederick Rath, who was leasing the clubhouse, ostensibly for a 10-week run, discontinued his summer professional theater after an ill-attended week's run, the club was left untenanted this week. Bridge clubs and dancing classes, which furnished the Community Players, Ltd., with revenue for the maintenance of the clubhouse, have taken space elsewhere.

Unless a "good fairy" will appear immediately to take over the clubhouse, it is likely that one department of Laguna's traditional art and culture center will go on the rocks.

Several of Rath's cast, left stranded with closing up of the clubhouse, are seeking employment here, and have expressed their willingness to participate in theatricals that any reorganization of the Community Players might effect.

Olympic Club Has Orange Meeting

ORANGE.—Olympic club members met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Margaret Tulene, noting the birthday anniversary of the hostess. Club members present were Mesdames Hattie Buhrmann, Amelia Krohe, W. C. Prichard, Bert Hodson and L. H. Pennington, Santa Ana. Guests were Mrs. Roy Tulene and daughter, Alice, and Bobby Galey.

Orange Business Club to Meet

ORANGE.—A social meeting will be held by the Business and Professional Women's club Monday evening at Knott's Berry Place, near Buena Park. It was announced today by Miss Florence Boosey, president.

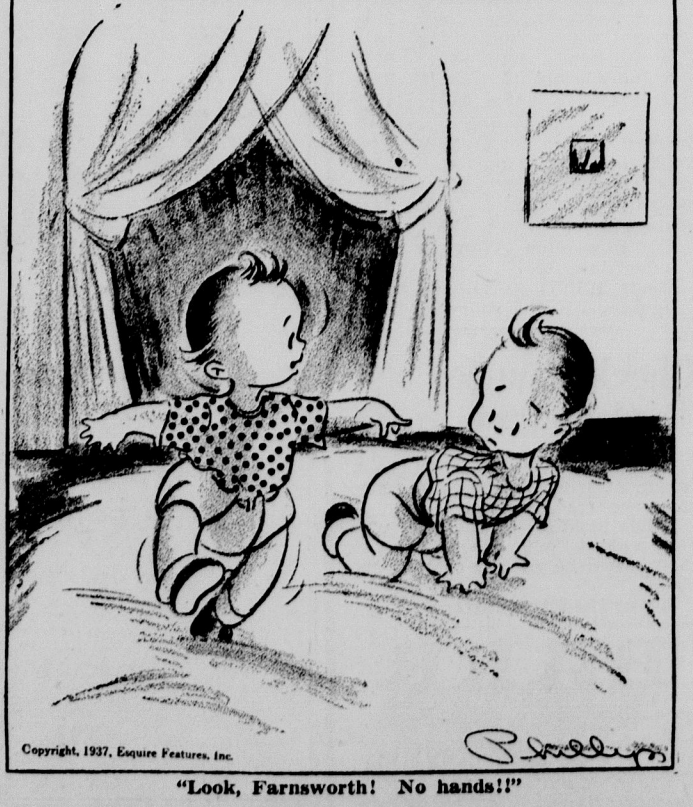

During the dinner, reports concerning the Southern District meeting at San Diego this week-end will be heard.

LEAVE FOR L. A.

COSTA MESA.—Misses Daisy and Anna Thiessen, sisters of Mrs. Henry Abrams, 1830 Fullerton avenue, after spending the past week at the Abrams home, left Thursday for Los Angeles. Mrs. Abrams and daughter Gracie Carol accompanied them for a brief visit.

VOTE "YES"

TUESDAY, JULY 27

It is essential that citizens of Orange county vote overwhelmingly in favor of the $2,500,000 water bond issue next Tuesday to show the federal government we appreciate its offer to invest $13,000,000 for Orange county. This $13,000,000 will be spent by the government to build eight flood control and water conservation reservoirs. It is an outright gift and does not have to be paid back.

We Are Urging Voters to Support the Water Bonds Because:

1. We need to save the average of 40,000 acre feet of water which can be conserved annually with the eight dams.
2. We need the complete flood protection the program will give us.
3. We need the more than a thousand jobs at real wages the construction work will provide for three years.
4. We need the benefits of the program, estimated by U. S. Army engineers at $1,444,000 annually to Orange county.
5. We need the tremendous amount of business the expenditure of more than $15,000,000 will bring.

Richie Bassett, Santa Ana boy scout leader and golf enthusiast, has caddied for numerous big-shot divot-diggers, including Harry Cooper, Horton Smith, Al Espinosa, John Dawson, Bing Crosby of Hollywood and the notorious Mr. Moore, alias John Montague. . . Bassett did most of his caddying in Illinois, and has a flattering letter of introduction from the great Cooper.

Truscott (Truck) Lindsey, who will be in charge of the W. P. A.'s new Junior softball league opening Aug. 2, is the same Lindsey who played halfback under Bill Cook at S. A. J. C. in '29.

Willie (Emperor) Jones, the lanky colored lad who pitched fine ball for the Saints in '35, is bootblackening on Glassell street in Orange. Fred (Porky) Bell, greatest negro in Saint and Don athletic annals, runs a shoe-shining stand on East Fourth in Santa Ana.

The SPORTSMAN

The deer season in California opens Aug. 1 and closes Sept. 15 in Districts 2, 2½, 3 and 3½. District 3 has been enlarged by the addition of San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura and the western portion of Kern counties.

In all other parts of the state the season opens Sept. 16 and closes Oct. 15 inclusive. It is illegal to take does, fawns and spike bucks at any time. No forked horns are to be taken in District 1½. The bag limit is two deer a season except in Districts 1½ and 4½, where the limit is one.

Prior to Aug. 27, 1937, deer tags need only be countersigned before transporting deer into a closed district, but after Aug. 27 all deer tags must be countersigned before any transportation of deer, except to the nearest authorized officer.

CUBS WRECK GIANTS, 11-3

Root Hurls Well; Sox Stop Yankees, 9 to 6

In pre-game calculations, the faithful and "experts" alike conceded the opener of the "crosshairs" Cubs-Giants series to the Giants. With Carl Hubbell in there, the belief went, the Cubs didn't have a chance.

Yesterday it looked that way in the first inning, when the Giants belted Curt Davis out with a two-run barrage. Then, however, the Cubs called on Life-saver Charley Root and backed up his 8 1-3-inning, five-hit relief pitching with an 18-hit attack of their own that punched Mr. Hubbell for a 11-3 decision.

The White Sox chasing after the American league lead, did big things against the Yankees to make it a Windy City holiday. Despite Joe DiMaggio's 26th homer and a couple of other four-bag wallop, the Sox slugged Murderer's Row, 9-6, to cut the Yankees' lead to six games, and with Thornton (Yankee Jim) Lusk slated to serve them up today, the Sox figure to follow along with the Cubs in the feeding.

The Cardinals sent Jesse Haines to the wars, and he turned up a six-hitter to whip the Dodgers, 4-1.

Elton Hogsett made it two in a row for the Browns under Jim Bottomley by blanking the Senators with five hits for an 8-0 win. The Athletics trampled the Tigers, 16-4, in the opener of their double-header and then lost the nightcap, 9-8, in 11 innings. The Red Sox scored early to topple the Indians, 6-2. The Reds trounced the Phillies, 6-3. The Pirates and Bees were idle.

Gabby Street Goes Into Conference With Browns' Boss

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—Gabby Street, newly appointed coach of the St. Louis Browns, will "talk things over" with Manager Jim Bottomley tomorrow. Street recently resigned as manager of the St. Paul American Association club.

Gabby, who piloted the Cardinals to two pennants and one world championship when he managed them from 1930 to 1933, arrived today from Westwood, Calif., where he has been vacationing with his family. He said he is "ready to give Jim all the help I can."

Montgomery Ward forged into the second-half lead for the first time in Santa Ana City league softball by dimming the hopes of the Commercial National Bank, 7 to 2, behind Walt Jordan's six-hit pitching at the Municipal bowl last night.

The rising Elks gained a second-place tie with the money players by stopping the Grand Central Market, 12 to 1, in the other feature.

BANKERS BLOW UP
"Speed Ball" Ed Bristow started moundward for the Commercial, but the combination of timely hits and errors was too much for the former County leaguer, who retired in the fourth. He complained of a sore arm resulting from a long lay-off.

Harold Youel's bankers blew up in the second, allowing four runs on two hits and four errors. Gene Hitt was safe on George Conaway's miff of a fly in center. Rod Smiley hit a solid single to center, and again Conaway made a mis-play. This time he threw the ball clear over the backstop into a lady's lap.

Hitt scored, and Smiley was lodged on third. "Rip" Collins lined a one-bagger to left, and "Buck" Newsom was safe on the third error, a juggling by Jesse Ojeda at second. Both Smith and Collins scored on a passed ball and Harold Youel's wide throw to the plate from the screen. Newsom came in on a pair of passed balls to end the rally.

Twirler Jordan walloped a scorching two-bagger to center to bring in Bob Pargue with another run for the department store. The final two were made in the fifth on Jim Wendoff's bunt, Maurice Young's triple and Smiley's double.

LARRY LUTZ SINGLES
The Youels, Ervins and Harold, ignited a belated rally in the seventh, but they were the only ones to score for the Bank. Larry Lutz brought them home on a long single to center.

It was just a case of too much main power in the opening round between the Elks and the Grand Central. Fred Cartwright paced the 13-hit attack with a single, triple and homer. Ed Cox held the Market for four scattered blows, Pete Partida being the only one to find himself against the Central's chukking with a double and home run.

Larry Owen has done well, observers believe, in keeping a team on the field, after nearly all his bays who tied for the first-half title have deserted.

MEHLHORN IS GOLF LEADER

Wild Bill's 70 Tops Sarazen and Cooper In Chicago's Open

CHICAGO. (AP)—The rest of the field in Chicago's $10,000 open golf tournament has its collective eye trained on Bill Melhorn of Louisville, Ky., today in the second round of the big money battle.

Wild Bill made himself a marked man yesterday by achieving the only sub-par score of yesterday's opening salvo, a 35-35—70 over the Medinah Country club's No. 3 course.

Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, who set a world record of 281 to win this year's National Open at Birmingham, Mich., took 76 to negotiate the No. 1 layout.

Following Melhorn and his famous eight-gallon hat were Gene Sarazen and Sam Snead, who were tied for second with 72's.

Another stroke further back was the tournament favorite, wiry Harry Cooper, seeking to add the $3000 top prize to the more than $10,000 he already has won this year. He had for company at 73 such stars as Horton Smith, Sam Snead, Jim Foulis and one not so well known, Bud Williamson of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The 74 shooter group included Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., the top amateur after the opening round and seven professional swingers, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Jimmy Hines of Garden City, L. I.; Drville White of Greensboro, N. C.; Harry Adams of Nashville, Tenn.; Henry Kaiser, St. Louis; Sam Bernardi of Chicago and Clarence Yockey of Kansas City.

After today's milling over the two courses the huge field will be reduced to the 50 low scoring professionals, 20 amateurs and 100 amateurs in both divisions.

headers at the Municipal bowl, Sixth and Flower streets, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. There will be a playoff, with prizes to the winners.

The junior baseball league plan was tried in Anaheim and met with instant success, Collins said.

Ocean Fishing

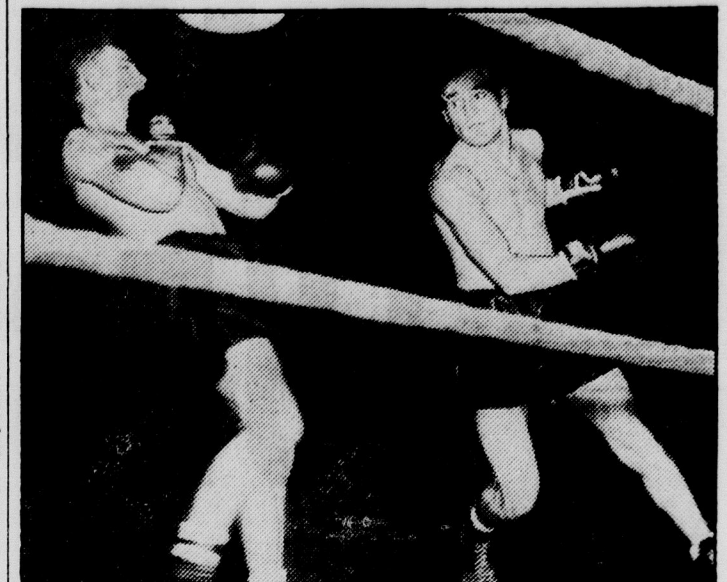

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—A good run of spottin croaker is in Newport bay. The best catches being made near the entrance and at Corona Del Mar. Razor clams have been the best bait and the morning hours have seen the best fishing.

Lots of big halibut up to 22 pounds on the barge "California," a few big barracuda and lots of mackerel.

Surf fishing has slowed up, mostly due to phosphorus in the water for a number of days, but we understand this has cleared up.

Fishing on the live bait boats is fair. There are barracuda daily, a few white sea bass and some halibut.

Freddie Steele Springs His Right

Freddie Steele (right) of Tacoma, Wash., middleweight champion, unleashed this on to Hobo Williams' jaw in the eighth round of their fight in Washington, D. C., and it was the end for the Washington boy. Steele was given a technical knockout. Hobo is shown staggering back under the force of the blow and he went down. It was a non-title bout, billed for 10 rounds for charity.

U. S. Boxing Needs Czar—Dempsey

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Out here on prizefight business, Jack Dempsey said today that what the country needs is a boxing czar.

"There's too much politics and phenagining going on in boxing these days," said the New York restaurateur. "Every state has its own champion and its own rules."

"Take the recent Braddock-Schmeling-Louis mixup, for example. Take the featherweight division. . . Bellois is the world champion in New York. Armstrong is champion in California and Sar-ton is champion of the N. B. A. It's killing the game."

"What boxing needs is a Judge Landis."

Dempsey returned to Los Angeles after two years to referee a match next Monday night between Pedro Montanez, the Puerto Rican lightweight, and Wesley Ramey of Grand Rapids, Mich. He also is looking after his own heavyweight, Red Burman, who fights Alberto Lovell, the Argentine, on the same card.

FIGHTERS TAPER OFF FOR MONDAY CARD

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Thirty-five thousand dollars worth of fighting talent went through the final phases of strenuous training today preparing for Promoter Joe Levy's big outdoor boxing card Monday night.

Alberto Lovell, the scar-faced heavyweight menace from Argentina, was due to wind up work, while his opponent, Red Burman of Baltimore, spurred on by the arrival of his manager-ideal, Jack Dempsey, traded punches with a couple of sparring mates in a final tune-up.

Lovell, recent winner over Maxie Rosenbloom and Eddie Simms and a favorite over Burman, has been training near San Diego.

Based solely on gymnasium appearances, enthusiasm for Pedro Montanez, so-called uncrowned lightweight king, has waned. Montanez, hailed as the best fighter for his weight in the world, has not shown the snap and speed of his opponent, Wesley Ramey, Grand Rapids, Mich., contender.

Ritchie Fontaine, featherweight pride of Montana, and slim Jackie Wilson, Pittsburgh negro, may prove a surprise and turn out to be the best match on the bill—a spot reserved at present for the Montanez-Ramey bout.

FRANK PARKER ELIMINATED

Bunny Austin Scores For England, 6-3, 6-2 And 7-5; Hare Beaten

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP)—Surviving a marathon 28-game first set, America's sorrel-topped tennis ace, Don Budge, crushed Charles Edgar Hare, 22-year-old Englishman, 15-13, 6-1, 6-2, and gave the United States an even break with Great Britain in the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round today.

Budge's triumph came after Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin, British stylist, had trounced Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

FIRST SET TORRID

Hare, the 22-year-old newcomer to Cup competition, furnished all the fireworks in the first day's competition.

Cast in the role of a sacrifice to Budge's vaunted tennis powers, the left-handed youngster fought the American ace tooth and nail in the first set as the small crowd looked on in amazement.

He broke through the red-head in the third game but Budge came back to smother Hare's service in the sixth game to stay level. Again in the ninth, Hare broke through for a 5-4 lead but Budge came back to take the tenth.

Thereafter the next 17 games in a row went to service and Budge thus held a 14-13 lead as Hare served in the 28th game.

The Briton promptly pounded out a 40-15 lead but served two double faults in a row to allow the American to draw the game. A few minutes later, the exhausted Hare served another double fault for the decisive game and the set.

CLOSES WITH RALLY

After that Budge, regaining full control of his game, smashed through the youngsters at will.

He broke through the red-head in the third game but Budge came back to smother Hare's service in the sixth game to stay level. Again in the ninth, Hare broke through for a 5-4 lead but Budge came back to take the tenth.

The third set followed exactly similar lines although Hare summoned up enough resistance to snare two games.

AUSTIN WINS AT WILL OVER PARKER

WIMBLEDON. (AP)—Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin sent Great Britain's Davis Cup tennis team away to a 1-0 lead over the United States today when he crushed 21-year-old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee in the opening match of the challenging round, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

The British stylist, one of the world's greatest players when the Davis Cup chips are down, won almost as he pleased from the Milwaukee youngster, named to the American team as a replacement for Myran M. (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta.

The result of the match had been forecast in advance for Parker does not yet rate in the same tennis class with the 30-year-old Austin.

MILLER GETS SPORT AWARD

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Honor such as has been conferred on only a few outstanding Americans last night was bestowed on Richard G. (Dick) Miller of this city.

The Gilmore Gold Medal is an award given Miller for his success in the recent western national tournament of angling clubs in Long Beach, when he established two new world records, one in salmon fly and the other in distance casting.

The presentation came as a complete surprise to Miller and most members of the Fly Casting club at their regular meeting here last night. Pictures of the presentation were taken and probably will be shown in newsreels.

In a presentation talk by Carl E. Grow the group of fishermen were told that the medals have been given only to outstanding Americans including Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart, Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis auto race fame and Bill Sefton, champion pole vaulter.

Miller, an employee of the Southern Counties Gas company there, was the organizer of the local Fly Casting club which has a membership of 125 sportsmen.

He will be sent to Buffalo, N. Y., in August, to compete in the national casting tournament of angling clubs.

Tonight's Game

Santa Ana at San Bernardino.

Without so much as swinging a bat, Santa Ana's Stars regained sole possession of third place in the National Nightball league last night as the result of Orange's 2-1 win at the expense of Anaheim. Huntington Beach won by the same score at Westminster.

Postponed from last night to avoid conflict with an orange show arena wrestling program, the San Bernardino-Santa Ana game, which will have an important bearing on the standings, will be played at Perris Hill park, San Bernardino, at 8:15 tonight. Manager "Doc" Smith will start his regular lineup, but will move Left-fielder Bob Schwarm, who is hitting .556, to the lead-off position. Fred Cartwright, City league graduate, will accompany the team as utility player. The batting

Over at Orange last night, Walt Gunther ignited a rally with a single in the sixth after Pitcher Roger Larimer had fanned. Ted Walker bunted, and took third when Pitcher Lyle Morse overthrew first. Roy Hahne's single scored Gunther. Walker scampered home on Nelson Struck's high fly to rightfield for the second out. . . Anaheim scored its lone run in the seventh on Fred Wiseman's double and singles by Jim Stives, Herman Kornder and Morse. . . Morse struck out nine to Larimer's two.

After loading the bases in the first without scoring, Westminster pushed across its lone run on Huntington Beach in the fifth, with Joe Hosack doubling and Randolph Bell singling him to third. Hosack, who hit four for five, scored on Chico Sabella's wild pitch.

Huntington Beach won the game in the fourth on three consecutive doubles by Bob Smith into right-field, Francis Conrad over short and Addison (Long Beach recruit), into left-center. . . Manager Joe Rodgers, Catcher Al Reboin and

HARLOW'S LAST FILM POPULAR

Gable in 'Saratoga' With Stricken Star

Capacity crowds are thronging to the West Coast theater to see "Saratoga," the picture which Jean Harlow had almost completed when she died tragically. "Saratoga," which co-stars Clark Gable, will be seen at the West Coast through Tuesday night, when it closes its engagement.

"Saratoga" gives Jean Harlow fans their last opportunity to see the lovely actress on the screen. The picture offers her a memorable role. Clark Gable and she are the loving, hating, fighting, laughing duo whose romance runs through the story.

Miss Harlow plays Carol, spoiled daughter of a rich stable owner, who meets her match in Duke, bookmaker and racing man. The picture combines the emotional drama of "Wife Versus Secretary," the thrills of "China Seas," the he-man vigor of "Hold Your Man," and the outdoor virility of "Red Dust," other co-starring hits that made Miss Harlow and Gable one of the greatest of the screen's romantic teams.

Lionel Barrymore heads the supporting cast as Grandpa Clayton, lovable old reprobate who knows his horses and women. Una Merkel and Frank Morgan form a new comedy team, while Walter Pidgeon and Cliff Edwards add laughs to the picture. Thrills of the race-track in this colorful film were filmed at many great race-tracks.

Second feature on the program is "Born Reckless," with Brian Donlevy, Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent and Barton MacLane. It is a story of racketeers who attempt to force taxi drivers to pay them money, and how Donlevy uses a bullet-proofed, steel-clad taxicab to defeat the gangsters.

Selected short subjects on the program include a hilarious color cartoon, "Wayward Pups," and World News events.

Rubioff Fiddles Self Into Job As Town's Mayor

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Dave Rubioff, the fiddler, said today that he and his fiddle will make a little trip Sunday.

They are going to Fiddletown, east of Sacramento, in Amador county.

Object: To be made mayor of Fiddletown.

Rubioff said that Irving P. Ostrom, chairman of the Fiddletown citizens committee, asked him to accept the honor of becoming mayor "in recognition of his services to fiddling."

Fiddletown may not be fiddle-less but, says Rubioff, it apparently is mayor-less.

Entertainment after the ceremony, which Ostrom said would be conducted by Mayor Arthur Ferguson of Sacramento, will consist of fiddle selections—by Mayor Rubioff.

New Range Saves Cost of Maid

The new Hotpoint electric range, the Chesterfield, has arrived in Santa Ana, and is making its headquarters at the Dunstan Electric company, located at 213 North Broadway.

"This is the most beautiful range ever produced by Hotpoint," stated Robert Dunstan, junior member of the organization. "Not only is it easy on the eye, but it is also the last word in scientific construction; it has three utility drawers, largest oven of any range on the market, one large and two small heating units, a total of three, all being regulated to your desire by three levels of heat, giving the user any desired temperature at any and all times. The full porcelain top, really a dream, will not discolor, crack or chip. Many new work saving ideas, automatic in every detail—put on your meal, go out for the theater, an afternoon bridge or shopping trip and return home to a well prepared meal; no expense for a maid; your Chesterfield takes her place."

Dancing Begins At 60, Claims

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Fifty and sixty year old men and women are "not too old to dance," Mrs. Montie Beach, president of the Dancing Masters of America, said today.

"It's the one exercise you can do until you're 90 years old without speeding up the heart," she added.

Mrs. Beach, of Houston, Texas, is the first woman president of the Dancing Teachers' association. She is here for its convention Aug. 1-7.

State Gasoline Receipts Drop

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, today studied possible minor revisions in the immediate highway construction and maintenance program because of an unexpected slump in gas tax receipts. He said the quarterly allocation of the tax to his department was $7,591,828, or $212,069 less than had been anticipated. The total was more than $200,000 less than the 1936 allocation for the corresponding quarter.

'Sequel to "Western Front"

Fight Film at Walker's

Bette Davis and Edward G. Robinson in a scene from "Kid Galahad," a story of the prize ring, which comes to Walker's theater tomorrow.

Kibbee Appears In Law Drama

Guy Kibbee, veteran of 35 years on stage and screen, stars in "Jim Hanvey, Detective," which opens tomorrow at the Princess theater, along with "The Pace That Kills."

Lucie Kaye plays the romantic lead with Tom Brown in the Kibbee picture. The supporting cast is headed by Catherine Doucet, Edward Brophy, Ed Gargan and Howard Hickman.

Kibbee plays the role of a retired country farmer who traps jewel thieves. The character was created by Octavus Roy Cohen. A solemn warning to parents is contained in "The Pace That Kills," story of the twentieth century speed and passion.

Desert Picture In Last Showing

"Trouble in Morocco," desert picture starring Jack Holt, closes tonight at the State theater. Mae Clarke and C. Henry Gordon also are featured in the action-packed Columbia picture.

On the same bill are the final chapter of "Flash Gordon," a Three Stooges comedy, and cartoon and newsreel.

'THE ROAD BACK' A WAR EPIC

Love-hungry soldiers, hardened by four years of battle and yearning to forget the horrors of war, tread the road back to their homes in the dynamic new drama, "The Road Back," which opens at the Broadway theater tomorrow with "Wild Money."

"The Road Back" is a sequel to "All Quiet on the Western Front," written by Erich Maria Remarque. Because of writing the book, the author was forced to flee from his native land because it dealt a blow at German militarism. Now adapted to the screen, the story concerns the experiences of returned soldiers as they try to adjust themselves to peacetime conditions, and to find love and happiness to supplant the hate and misery through which they had struggled.

This picture was five years in preparation and nearly a year in the making. It pictures for the first time on the screen the economic and moral conditions which followed the wake of war in Germany. The cast includes John King, Richard Cromwell, Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Noah Beery, Jr., Maurice Murphy and John Emery as the returning soldiers. In leading feminine roles are Barbara Read, Louise Fazenda, Greta Gynt, Jean Rouverol, Spring Byington and Laura Hope Crews. Other important roles are taken by Lionel Atwill, Etienne Girardot, Henry Hunter and others.

High humor, a fast moving story and a good cast combine to make "Wild Money" one of the breeziest comedies of the season. Based on the story by Paul Gallico, the comedy unfolds the story of a would-be newspaper reporter who goes berserk when he is given unlimited funds with which to scoop a story. Edward Everett Horton is the reporter and he is assisted by Lynne Overman, Louise Campbell, Porter Hall, Lucien Littlefield, Benny Baker and many others.

Selected short subjects on the program include a color cartoon, "Indian Serenade," and World News events.

Honolulu Picture Tells Navy Love

The flashing color of Uncle Sam's flying forces, mixed with South Sea romance, wrapped in a swift, dramatic story about a beautiful navy wife lashed by gossip's tongues—that's "Wings Over Honolulu," opening Thursday at Walker's theater.

Wendy Barrie, Ray Milland and Kent Taylor head the cast. Miss Barrie plays the beautiful Southern belle who marries a naval aviator and finds herself unprepared for the excitement, rigid conventions, and burning jealousies of navy life.

Fired with the get-rich-quick fever, the Jones family launches its dream ship into a sea of oil in "Big Business," companion feature on the Thursday-Friday-Saturday bill. Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason and others take leading roles in the comedy.

Included on the bill is the latest issue of the March of Time and a newsreel. The March of Time deals with the Hawaiian islands and their bid to become the forty-ninth state, the Rockefeller family, and today's 300,000 orphaned infants.

Film Operetta Closes Tonight

Adventure and romance are combined with the gorgeous music of Victor Herbert's greatest operetta in "Naughty Marietta," which shows for the last time tonight at the Broadway theater with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, eminent singers, in the leading roles. Second feature on the program is "The Great Hospital Mystery."

"Naughty Marietta" is a story of the settlement of New Orleans by the French in the days of Louis XV and of the love of a disguised French princess, seeking escape from a marriage state, and an English officer. The dramatic side of the adventure, thrills and perils of the period is stressed as a background for the musical sequence. The cast includes Frank Morgan, Elsa Lanchester, Douglas Dumbrille, Joseph Cawthorne, Celia Parker and Akim Tamiroff.

A terror-stricken hospital, at the mercy of an unseen killer, is the scene of the most bewildering police hunt in crime annals, with detectives baffled by the strange shooting of a man already dead, in "The Great Hospital Mystery," which features Jane Darwell.

'KID GALAHAD' AT WALKER'S

With three famous stars heading its cast—Bette Davis, Edward G. Robinson and Humphrey Bogart—a drama of the prize ring called "Kid Galahad" opens tomorrow at Walker's theater. Also on the bill, which runs through Wednesday night, are "Angels Holiday," "Music by Morgan," and a newsreel.

Made from the best-selling novel by Francis Wallace, ace sports fictionist, "Kid Galahad" deals not only with those elements of the boxing ring with which everyone is familiar, but also with the behind-the-scenes maneuvering of fighters and their managers.

A new star is revealed in the film in the person of Wayne Morris, 23-year-old newcomer who plays "Kid Galahad," a big handsome blond boy who gets the name because he has reverent ideas about womanhood. Jane Bryan plays the young lady with whom he falls in love.

Trouble comes double when little Miss Dynamite comes to town with her latest escapades as an amateur detective making front-page news in "Angels Holiday," starring Jane Withers. She routs a riot squad with its own tear-gas and starts a real free-for-all. Robert Kent and Sally Blane are featured with Joan Davis in supporting the devilish Miss Withers.

"Music by Morgan," an orchestra reel and news events complete the bill.

'The Good Earth' Starts Wednesday

The dramatic story of China's teeming millions, their struggles and hardships, is transcribed from Pearl S. Buck's epic novel to the talking screen in "The Good Earth," starring Paul Muni and Luise Rainer, and opening at the West Coast theater next Wednesday.

Fruit of four years of research and preparation, of the work of a film expedition that passed a year in China, filming exteriors, studying details and bringing back thousands of authentic properties, the picture is admittedly one of the most human and compelling ever produced, according to advance notices.

Prominent players in the large supporting cast include Walter Connolly, the European dancer, Tilly Losch, Charley Grapewin, Jessie Ralph, Soo Young, Roland Lui, Suzanna Kim, Chingwah Lee, Harold Huber, Claf Hytten, William Law and Mary Wong.

Huge crowd scenes include the uprising in the teeming city, the exodus of a population from the stricken drought area and others. The novel, on which the picture is based, is the recipient of two prizes, having been selected as the Book of the Month, and also winning the Pulitzer prize for the best novel of the year.

Western Slated Soon at State

Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette, and Frances Grant star in "Oil Susanna," western film which plays next Friday and Saturday at the State theater. The Light Crust Doughboys, well-known radio sextet, make their film bow in this picture.

The fascination of the jungle comes to the State's screen on the same bill when the first chapter of a new serial, "Jungle Jim," is shown. The story deals with jungle exploits of Jim, the daring explorer. It is based on Alex Raymond's newspaper serial strip.

Also on the bill are "Arbor Day," an Our Gang comedy, "Making Friends," a Betty Boop cartoon, and a newsreel.

Many Thrills in 'The Californian'

Thrilling action against the colorful background of old California highlights Harold Bell Wright's fast-moving screen play, "The Californian," with Ricardo Cortez in the starring role and scheduled to show at the West Coast theater in the near future, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain. Marjorie Weaver and Katherine DeMille have leading roles.

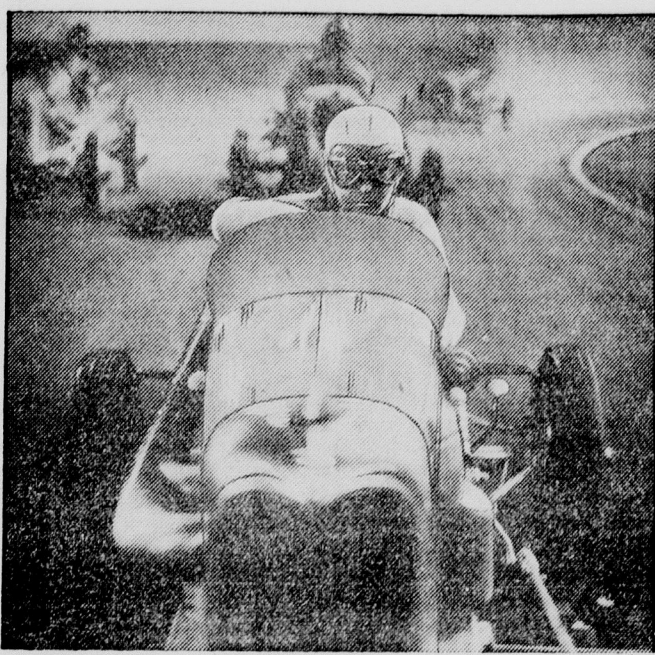

Second feature on this program will be "It's All Yours," hailed as a charming romantic comedy featuring Madeline Carroll, Francis Lederer, Mischa Auer and Grace Bradley.

Harlow at West Coast

Lovely Jean Harlow and Clark Gable are shown above in a scene from "Saratoga," colorful race-track romantic comedy-drama, which is the current attraction at the West Coast theater. "Saratoga" is the picture Miss Harlow had almost completed when she died. Second feature on the bill is "Born Reckless" with Brian Donlevy and Rochelle Hudson.

'Speed' on State Screen

Mirroring the breakneck pace of the modern generation, "Speed," coming to the State theater tomorrow, shows the tense atmosphere of automobile building. Above is a scene from the film.

Olsen, Johnson At State Soon

Olsen and Johnson, the rollicking radio and stage comedy team, make their bid for screen fame in "Country Gentlemen," coming to the State theater Wednesday and Thursday. Also on the bill are a second feature, "The Girl from Scotland Yard," a comedy, "Glove Taps," and a travelogue, "The Hollanders."

The Olsen-Johnson team portrays the shady characters of stock promoters, bill jumpers, confidence men, and scoundrels. They prove in the end, however, that their intentions were good all along. In doing so they create some comic situations. Joyce Compton is the very dumb young lady who adds to the complications by trying to show them up as wolves in sheep's clothing. Lila Lee, former screen great, also starts her comeback in this film. Action, international intrigue and romance keep "The Girl from Scotland Yard" moving at a fast pace. Karen Morley plays the title role as an agent using her beauty and wit to trap the inventor of death ray. Robert Baldwin, a newcomer, plays opposite.

'SPEED' DEPICTS MODERN PACE

"Speed," coming to the State theater today, effectively mirrors to breakneck pace of the modern generation.

James Stewart, Wendy Barrie, Una Merkel, Weldon Heyburn, Ted Healy, Ralph Morgan and Patricia Wilder take leading roles.

The story captures the tense atmosphere of the American automobile plant, when highly important experiments promise the failure or success of the product. It concerns the adventures of a handsome young test driver who has invented a new carburetor which he installs in a racing car.

An Anaheim boy, Jackie Searl, is seen in "Two Wise Maids," also on the four-day bill beginning tomorrow. Alison Skipworth and Polly Moran co-star in the film, dealing with the valiant efforts of two old-fashioned school teachers to train unruly youngsters into respected citizens.

Young Searl, who started doing radio monologues at the age of nine, thrusts out to be the "meanest boy villain" in the film. He's the worst of a bad crowd in the tough East Side New York school where the teachers work.

Also on the State bill is chapter 11 of "Ace Drummond."

'San Quentin' Opens Thursday

With Pat O'Brien starred and ably supported by such players as Humphrey Bogart, Barton MacLane, Joseph Sawyer and Ann Sheridan in leading roles, the powerful melodrama, "San Quentin," will open at the Broadway theater next Thursday with "Love in a Bungalow." It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

While the story of "San Quentin" is laid in and about the famous penitentiary, it is not a sorrowful tale of condemned men, advance notices say. It is a swiftly-moving melodrama dealing with prisoners, the life they lead, and the officers who guard them. Many of the scenes were taken at San Quentin. Dramatic highlights include a dash for freedom, and plenty of fighting and gunfire. "Love in a Bungalow" is a heart-warming comedy, featuring Nan Grey, Kent Taylor, Jack Smart, Hobart Cavanaugh and other favorites. Miss Grey is hostess in a model bungalow. Kent Taylor is a salesman out of a job, who takes refuge temporarily in the bungalow. They become romantically entangled, and decide to answer a $5000 contest, the prize being offered for the best letter from the happiest married couple. Not being married, complications ensue when they win and are forced to carry through the bluff.

Leppers Fete
Friends At Parties

Two parties in as many evenings are keeping Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Lepper busy entertaining in their charming home, 938 Louise street. Last night Mrs. Lepper complimented a group of her friends, while tonight both Mr. and Mrs. Lepper will entertain for six couples.

Last night Mrs. Howard McHenry joined Mrs. Lepper as co-hostess for the party, with card tables set in the living room, and one long table in the dining room ready to serve the dessert course. Giant zinnias were used as colorful decorations.

During the card game of the evening, Mrs. William Lindsey was awarded high prize, and Mrs. Leonard Hanaker won low.

Included in the party were the Mesdames Lynn Hafer, L. G. Brown, Leonard Hanaker, John McFarland, Charles Hoesfield, Leonard Musick, John V. Watts, Benjamin H. Jesse and William Lindsey.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Lepper are to entertain at dinner in the home cafe, later going to the Lepper home for bridge. The party will include the Messrs. and Mesdames Leland Bohak, Ralph Mitchell, Leonard White of Cypress, Wilbur Gill of La Habra, Richard Terrell of Long Beach and William Stanford of Fullerton.

WHITE SHRINE
ENTERTAINED BY
YORBA LINDANS

Members of the Santa Ana White Shrine met last night in the Masonic temple for a business meeting and entertainment program provided by members of the Yorba Linda group.

Mrs. Elizabeth Roedick of Yorba Linda was chairman of the program committee which presented vocal selections by a trio composed of Miss Celeste Porter, Miss Genevieve Thompson, and Robert Thompson, and a comedian.

Refreshments were served by the Yorba Linda group, directed by Mrs. Della Maude Ryan, chairman of the dining room. Members of the committee were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leadley, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Roedick and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lowe.

During a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Pearl Hyde, worthy high priestess, and Willard Patterson as watchman, past and honorary supreme officers from Pasadena, Fullerton and Santa Ana were introduced.

Plans were made for the annual White Shrine picnic to be held at 1:30 p. m., Sunday, Aug. 1, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Workman, 1905 Valencia street. Each member has been asked to bring a covered dish and his own table service, with families invited.

MRS. ANGNE
COMPLIMENTS
TWO GUESTS

For the dual purpose of bidding adieu to one local woman and welcoming a newcomer to Santa Ana, Mrs. George Agne entertained at a charming one o'clock luncheon in her home, 701 Hickory street, yesterday.

Mrs. Howard Taylor, 2315 Bonita Brae, is the departing Santa Ana who will leave to Pasadena to make her home in the future, while Mrs. Henry Irving Rasmus, Jr., wife of the new minister of the First Methodist Episcopal church, is the new resident.

The lovely Angne home was filled with gay garden blossoms, with bowls of zinnias, coccopais, and petunias decorating the various rooms of the home. Because of the known interest of her guests in antiquities of all types, Mrs. Angne brought out many lovely pieces of old glassware, the collection of which has been her hobby for some time.

Guests at the afternoon luncheon were the two honor guests Mrs. Howard Taylor and Mrs. Henry I. Rasmus, Jr., and Mrs. Ruth Walker, Mrs. R. Daughters, Mrs. John Bower, Mrs. Luella Blackburn, Mrs. Clem McCulloch, and Mrs. A. T. Kline.

PARTY GOES TO IDYLLWILD

Leaving today for Idyllwild, a party of Santa Anans will spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Deardorff and Glenna Jean who are summering in a cabin there.

In the local party are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Otto McCure, Mrs. Jack Willey and little Miss Shirley Thomas. When Mr. and Mrs. Thomas return, they will bring back their daughter Barbara who has been visiting with the Deardorffs for three weeks. Miss Shirley will remain at Idyllwild.

MAYHEWS HAVE
TRIO OF GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mayhew, 410 West Second street, have entertained Mr. Mayhew's cousin, Miss Jane Meyer of New York City as a guest in their home for a few days this week.

Yesterday, Miss Dorothy Mayhew, now a resident of Hollywood, brought two friends, Mrs. Frances Anning and Mrs. George Snibley, both of Westwood, to be luncheon guests of her mother, Mrs. W. L. Mayhew.

Sturdy Walls Hold Secrets
Of Santa Ana's Past

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT

Time has sealed the lips of many of our fine old pioneers who, in the early part of this half-century, built the city of Santa Ana. Historical records tell but the bare facts of their lives, and the secrets, the joys, and the sorrows they knew and lived are hidden in the walls of the old homes, merged into oblivion, or held captive within the walls of those places they knew as home.

Many of the buildings now standing in Santa Ana are survivals of that early day when homes were monuments to a man's pride and prosperity. In fact, it is surprising to realize how many of them are so old and what histories they possess. With the help of Theo Winbigler and E. P. Stafford, whose fathers were among the earliest of pioneers, I have searched and lived to find the facts about those that are still in use, but their histories I found most interesting.

Oldest Building
The N. O. Stafford home, built in 1872 at the corner of Main and Orange streets, and now located on West Eighth street, is the oldest building still standing, says Mr. E. P. Stafford, son of the builder. It has been remodelled in the intervening years, and is now the chapel of the Second Baptist church.

Another of the old-timers is the commercial building at the corner of Fourth and Bush streets, built originally in 1876 by A. J. Dodge, who came here from Eureka. When he lost his wife, he sold the place to the same N. O. Stafford, who used it for a general merchandizing store for many years. Later still it housed the first daily paper of Santa Ana.

In 1879 Dr. J. D. Bailey, who had purchased the Andrews home on North Broadway, built a square brick edifice on the corner of Third and Broadway. Although it was not a home, it deserves mention because of its period. In 1892 it was bought by F. D. Leonard, and is still standing, although quite badly shaken by the earthquake.

The Withner home erected on Main street between Seventh and Church street in 1882, was the only building in that block when the famous earthquake occurred. At that time the property was acquired by J. W. McCormac, who took his bride there 27 years ago. They expected to build a new home in the center of the plot but because of the rapidly encroaching business district, they moved the old house around to face the Church street and turned it into apartments still in use.

Cradle of Ebel
J. L. Garney built a fine brick home in 1883, the first of its kind, and soon after erected another for his son, John. The first was torn down in the march of progress, but the latter structure is still in use at the corner of Second and Flower streets.

At about the same time Dr. J. R. Medlock built his home at 806 North Main street, the only building in the block with the exception of the old Baptist church at the corner. The house, planned by an English architect, has fine lines, and was a lovely home surrounded by eucalyptus trees in those days. It was in that home that the Ebel club of Santa Ana valley had its origin, in 1894. In 1932 it was moved to face on Sycamore street back of the Gustlin home, and is now used as a studio.

Two other buildings, erected in 1895, and still standing, are the Winbigler building at Sixth and Main streets, and a home built for the Carey R. Smiths at 1308 North Main street.

Style Changes
By 1887 the style of architecture had changed a great deal, as shown by the old French home at Ninth and Spurgeon, and by the William Smart home at 720 North Main street. Both have towers, bay windows, balconies with fancy fretwork, and much colored glass in their windows.

In that same year M. M. Crookshank built a home at 1414 North Main street, and sold it in 1897 to the Mullinix family. Two of the Mullinix daughters still make their homes there, having divided its ample rooms into two flats. They are Mrs. Alex. Brownridge and Mrs. R. N. Alexander.

In 1889 Roscoe E. Hewitt, the first teacher in the little one-room school house then in use, built his home in the 1200 block of South Main street. It was a family home until 1896, when the Mullinix family rented it for a year. On the site of the Julia Lathrop Junior High school, it was quite a show place, and very much in the country. A dirt road led to town, and the carriages were used by the families who lived there in order to get to the store. Later it was bought by the Ross family, and used by them until the school was built.

Family Still Here
At that time it was purchased by L. G. Swales, moved to 930 South Broadway, and was thoroughly modernized without losing any of its fine old lines and beautiful woodwork. After they had lived there several years, it was bought by the Dan E. Maloney, whose home it now is. Descendants of its original owners are still living in Santa Ana, Roscoe Hewitt being the grandson of the builder, and Dr. Garland Ross the son of the second owner.

Another fine home built in the 80's was that of Dr. Howe, later Dr. Willille Waffie, at the northwest corner of Seventh and Bush streets. 1892 saw the erection of the John McFadden home at 906 North Main street. Theo Winbigler told me of the tragic event which occurred soon after, when his father, the contractor on the building, fell and died two days later. The mother and daughters still reside in the fine old home, although business has nearly engulfed it.

These old buildings would be but shells of brick and boards were it not for the associations, the transactions, the growth of business, and the general development of citizens that have occurred within their walls, and so made them monuments to progress.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD HOSTESS AT
BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Miss Marjorie Lou Braasch was the guest of honor at a party pink and white birthday party given this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Braasch, 2203 North Flower street.

It was her seventh birthday anniversary, and a candle-light birthday cake, pink and white nut-ups and favors in the same hues made small tables in the living room very attractive during the refreshment hour. A session of games and contests preceded this, with prizes going to Miss Mary Jean Tedstrom and Miss Betty Lou Huckfeldt.

Mrs. Braasch was assisted during the hours from 2 to 5 by Mrs. Jack Kahler, Mrs. Kenneth Ranning, Mrs. Lynn Ostrander and Mrs. Charles Terry of Pasadena. Guests of Miss Marjorie Lou were James Leslie Steffensen, Jr., Betty Lou Huckfeldt, Joan Cole, Floydene Alexander, Donna Lee Chandler, Janet Coombs, Mary Jo Coombs, Barbara Pickering, Burnett Lane, Jere Sherrard, Peggy Smith, Bobby Smith, Bruce Anderson, Marilyn Wilson, Mary Jean Tedstrom, Sylvia Ranney, Barbara Struble and Bobby Terry of Pasadena.

WELSHES ARE NEWCOMERS

Among pleasant additions to Santa Ana society are Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Welsh, who, with their little daughter, Colleen, have recently moved here from Rockwell City, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Welsh have established a home at 802 Lowell street. The former is a member of the Elks and the American Legion, and has launched a variety store in the Grand Central Market building.

Clubhouse Is Setting For Affair

A smartly-gowned group of nearly 100 Santa Ana matrons attended yesterday afternoon's monthly bridge tea at the Santa Ana Country club, enjoying an afternoon of bridge and gay conversation before the refreshment course which concluded the pleasant affair.

Lovely baskets of all sorts of summer blossoms lined the walls of the lounge in which members and their guests were seated at the card tables. Colorful zinnias, petunias, hydrangeas, and beautiful shaggy dahlias in golden tones made a most effective background for the pretty frocks worn, particularly the hostess gowns worn by the afternoon's committee.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Riley Huber in quaintly styled taffeta, Mrs. C. W. Hill in smart navy gray with white turtleneck, Mrs. Frank Sawyer in tulle tucked net over a vivid print, and Mrs. Don Jerome in brilliant yellow organdy with touches of black. Mrs. A. G. Flagg was an attractive figure as she performed her duties as general chairman, wearing a lovely black sheer over black and white taffeta. Mrs. E. C. Hoiles in a sheer print, and Mrs. Gar Ross in orchid dimité were also prominent at the affair.

Prizes for the day were of crystal, a mammoth hors d'oeuvres plate, and several lovely bowls and vases. First, second and third high scores were held by Mrs. Wayne Reafsnider, Mrs. C. V. Davis, and Mrs. George Walker, while Mrs. G. K. Scovel and Mrs. Lewis Moulton were winners of the lucky awards. Mrs. Howard Timmons was given a special prize for her high score which was momentarily overlooked.

The afternoon was concluded with a tea course served from a table decorated with quaint little bowls of plump hydrangea blossoms. Presiding at the tea urn were Mrs. James Irvine in broad-brimmed hat and turquoise lace, Mrs. B. J. MacMullen in a navy sheer, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth also in navy, Mrs. Emerson Marks of San Diego in a blue ensemble, Mrs. G. K. Scovel in a vivid green print, and Mrs. John L. Wehrly, in a cape ensemble of black and du-bonnet.

More than half the group lunched at the clubhouse before the afternoon's play with Mrs. Howard Rapp, Mrs. Chester Warren, Mrs. J. R. Stevens, Mrs. H. C. Maxwell, Mrs. Roy Langley, and Mrs. Flagg in charge. Decorations were done by Mrs. E. D. Holmes, Jr., and Mrs. George Parker.

CALVARY GROUP
HAS MEETING
AT BEACH

The summer cottage of Mrs. C. E. Pollins at Newport Beach was the charming setting for an all-day meeting of more than 55 members of the Missionary society of Calvary church, with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Speaker for the day was Mrs. Evelyn McClusky, international instructor of the Miracle Book club, who described her work with young people.

During a business meeting conducted by Mrs. John Sutherland, president of the society, plans were made for the founding of a building fund for a new church. For the next meeting, members will join their husbands and children for an evening picnic at Anaheim park.

The committee of hostesses who assisted Mrs. Pollins consisted of Mrs. George Boyer, Mrs. Ralph Haines, and Mrs. Eugene Grisct.

RETURN FROM EASTERN TRIP

Earl T. Johnston of the Santa Ana Dental laboratory and Mrs. Johnston have returned to their home, 1233 South Ross street, this week after an extended trip in the East.

During their trip, they visited for some time in Indianapolis, Ind., former home of Mr. Johnston, where he had acquired acquaintances with friends and relatives whom he hadn't seen in 19 years. They returned home by way of Knoxville, Tenn., and Jacksonville, Fla., where they paused for brief visits with friends and relatives.

A. C. WILLIAMS
HAVE GUESTS

The pleasant diversion of entertaining house guests has been the lot of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Williams of Williams street, Tustin, during the past week.

Mrs. Joseph Lane of Fresno is now visiting in the Williams home for a month, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Williams of Los Angeles arrived in Santa Ana this week to spend the night with Mr. Williams' parents.

LYNCHES BACK
FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Lynch and their children, Jack, Beth, and Mary Ann, are back at their home, 926 Halladay street, after a three-day trip to San Francisco.

During their stay in the Bay region, the Lynches saw the new San Francisco Bay bridges. Before returning, they visited two of Mr. Lynch's sisters, Miss Nora and Miss Theresa Lynch at their San Francisco home.

Saturday Brides Make Their Bow

MISS DOROTHY REDDISH

MRS. KENNETH WAITE

Until announcement was made early this week of her wedding last Saturday at Yuma, she was Miss Virginia Kastorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kastorff of Santa Ana. She and her new husband are popular in the city's younger set, and will make their home here.

MRS. ARMSTRONG
IS FETED AT LAYETTE SHOWER

Dainty furnishings for a layette were presented to Mrs. W. E. Armstrong at a stork shower given in her home at the Garden Grove home of Mrs. William Kelsey.

Not only was she the honor guest of the evening, but Mrs. Armstrong was also high prize winner for the games played during the party. Refreshments were served on trays especially decorated with pink storks. Maiden-hair fern and bouquets of asters completed the table decorations.

In the group in addition to Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Kelsey, were Mrs. Ed Miller of Garden Grove, Mrs. M. V. Stewart of Anaheim, Mrs. Roy Miles, Mrs. Charles P. Atwood, Mrs. E. M. Planchon, Mrs. R. E. Rowe, Mrs. F. E. Smith, Mrs. James Sullivan, Mrs. Athol McEvoy, Mrs. George Hubbard, Mrs. Paul Cozad, Mrs. Bert Hulme, Mrs. G. D. Hendrickson, Mrs. F. B. Pope, Mrs. L. Zora D. Area, Mrs. Anna McCleary, Mrs. Ruth O'Mallia, and Miss Margaret Riddell, all of Santa Ana.

BIRDS HONOR
FRIENDS AT DINNER, BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bird entertained a small group of their friends at an intimate dinner party in their home, 1129 West Seventeenth street, this week.

The hostess had arranged a blue Mexican bowl of bright summer flowers as a centerpiece for the table. Flanking this were blue candle holders with tall white tapers. Guests played contract bridge during the evening.

Included in the group were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ball of Newport Beach, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Wimbush, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. McBay, and Mr. and Mrs. Bird. Miss Maxine Bird assisted her mother in her hostess duties.

LOCAL GROUP
SEES BALLET

The Ferde Grofe ballet for his Grand Canyon suite which was presented in Hollywood Bowl Thursday night attracted a great many Santa Ana residents, including one party of local young people.

Included in the group were Miss Barbara Crawford, Miss Ruth Warner, Miss Marian Brownridge, Miss Dorothy Gowdy, Miss Lucille Cook, Miss Yvonne Blank, Miss Jane Flinn, and Miss Elizabeth Downing.

OREGONIANS
VISITORS HERE

House guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mathies, 1239 South Broadway, are Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Olsen of Oregon. Mr. Olsen is an engineer at Bonneville dam, and Mrs. Olsen is Mrs. Mathies' sister.

The visitors have spent the past two weeks visiting friends at various southland points, Big Bear, Catalina and Los Angeles. They will be here another fortnight.

Chat Awhile With Betty

Chatting awhile with Betty as the clock rolls around toward 11 p. m. is one of those things I'd much rather not have some of please mister, because events and incidents take on a very peculiar color at the end of a long day of describing beautiful weddings and lovely parties and charming hostesses and exquisite flowers and striking motifs and delicious refreshments and stuff. It's the bane of a society editor's existence that there are so few adjectives that can be used to describe truly the events that make up society.

No matter how delightful and original an affair may be, there's nothing new to say about it, unless one hits upon a certain felicitous turn of speech that does do justice to its particular merits.

Once upon a time Connie Chickchank counted the possible ways to begin a society story. There were 32—and nary another. I often think "Excelsior! I have found them!" and pound madly away at my typewriter, only to sit sadly back and realize that like "I Love You," it's been said before! Of course Louise West, another erstwhile society gal, counted still more, but she has yet to show me.

All of which is neither here nor there in the world of this and that—just a passing thought that might explain why repetitions must occur. Heaven preserve me, however, from the favorite phrases of a former Santa Ana writer whom Margaret Hall remembers. According to the petite Mrs. Edward, the lady's pets were "spicy carnations" and "spotless linens" upon any and all occasions!

Humor seems to have skimmed by this week, with the only highlight being a certain scene at the Country Club yesterday afternoon. This should be called Tea-Pot Tattle. Leading character was Santa Ana's most august and widely-emulated dowager. As she was gazed at covertly and with awe by various younger matrons, she placidly finished eating her cake, and, one-by-one, lingeringly licked the frosting from her fingers!

And then it was a trifle embarrassing for lots of people when it was suddenly discovered, after all three prizes had been admirably opened by their winners, that, really and truly, Marie Timmons had held the highest score, but that it had been overlooked. Consternation prevailed but momentarily, with all the happy prize-winners having visions of giving their back, till gracious Mrs. A. G. Flagg announced that an extra double special prize would be given Mrs. Timmons later on, although she protested she really didn't want one.

The latter's mother, Mrs. George Briggs, was very much in evidence, beaming upon her many friends who haven't had the pleasure of her company for several months. Wearing a gorgeous orchid, she was engrossed in the subject of moulded salads (inspired by the sight of Mrs. Reafsnider's lovely print, a great wide plate.) She discussed various Eight o'clock this evening is the hour set for her marriage to Mr. Roch Bradshaw of Santa Ana, the ceremony to be performed in the little St. Cecilia chapel of the Mission Inn at Riverside. The attractive blonde bride is a Los Angeles girl.

Miss Settle
Weds James
BryantNuptials Performed
In Flower-Decked
Orange Church

Of great interest to residents of Orange and many Santa Anans was the lovely church wedding last evening at eight o'clock which united Miss Henrietta Louise Settle of El Modena and James Bryant, Jr., of Orange in marriage.

The Orange Presbyterian church was setting for the affair, and was beautifully decorated with tall candelabra, graceful palms, and great baskets of white larkspur. The altar was banked with fragrant white blossoms, and was overhung with a blossom-covered wedding veil.

Miss Settle, attractive brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Settle, wore white net over white taffeta, with a pretty little Juliet cap loaned her by Mrs. J. Clay Adams. A gold necklace and bracelet set belonging to her grandmother, and a dainty white prayer book from which satin streamers and rosebuds fell, completed her costume.

The bridal party was composed of Miss Lila Erbenbraut, who as maid of honor wore peach net over peach taffeta, and carried a sheaf of talisman roses, and two little flower girls, the Misses Ann Warner and Rosalie Woodward of Santa Ana. Both were frocked in pale blue taffeta and carried quaint old-fashioned white bonnets filled with the rose petals with which they strewn the aisle.

The groom, son of James Bryant of Orange, was attended by Robert Powell. Ushers were Mr. Robert Erbenbraut, Thomas C. Powell, Irwin Wagner, and George Richardson.

Soft music sung by a vested choir and by Charles Armstrong, with Percy Green at the organ, preceded and followed the nuptial rites which were presided over by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor emeritus of the church.

Later a reception was held for 150 guests. Mrs. Settle, in a blue flowered crepe gown, was assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. Rex Mace, who wore pink taffeta. Others who mingled with the guests and helped serve the wedding cake were Mrs. Carl Warner and Mrs. Herbert Woodward of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant will make their home in Orange, where the latter attended high school. She later attended Santa Ana Junior college, and Mr. Bryant was educated in Worcester, Mass., his former home.

LOCAL CLUB
MEETS IN LONG BEACH

Twenty members of the Homophenous club of Santa Ana were complimented by Mrs. Hugh Osborne Thursday afternoon when she entertained them in her new home at 1050 Gardena street, Long Beach.

Arriving at the Osborne home, the local people found a table set in the arbor of the garden where a pot-luck luncheon was served. The afternoon was spent in inspecting the new home and garden and in telling of vacations taken or planned.

Those present for the party were Miss Ruth Bartlett of La Verne, Miss Hazel Heaston of Bakersfield, Mrs. Andrew Wilson of Costa Mesa, Mrs. Herbert C. Foss of Placentia, Mrs. Marjorie Cook and Mrs. Marie Webb of Anaheim, Mrs. Geneva Schaffert of Orange, and Miss Janice Boyd of Hartford, Conn.

Miss Marion Walker, Miss Alice Sheel, Miss Pauline Parsons, Mrs. Sue Lamb, Mrs. Jessie Cole, Mrs. May Groover, Mrs. Cora Huber, Mrs. Harriet Rurup, Mrs. Jo Lowell, Mrs. Josephine Druce, Mrs. Gertrude Nash, and Mrs. Mabel Osborne, all of Santa Ana.

GROUP RETURNS
FROM OREGON

Mrs. A. F. Schroeder of 1120 Memory Lane has just returned from a trip to Oregon, during which she was accompanied by Mrs. Sophie Schroeder, Mrs. R. J. Miller, and Mrs. Anna Rohrs.

The party stopped for a brief visit in San Francisco, then crossed the Golden Gate bridge to the Redwood Highway and on to Medford, Ore., where they visited a mutual friend, Mrs. W. M. Cory, for a week.

On the return trip to Santa Ana, the group stopped in Delano, Calif., to visit Mrs. Miller's father for a few days.

LOCAL PEOPLE
AT YELLOWSTONE

Mrs. C. H. Stanley and Miss Edith Stanley of 1135 West First street, were joined by their daughter and sister, Mrs. Claude Stanley, who were on a vacation trip to Yellowstone park.

The trio left last week, traveling by way of Boulder Dam, the Grand Canyon and Bryce and Zion canyons. They will vacation for some time more in Yellowstone before returning to their homes, via several day trips.

Dinner Party Given For Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King were host and hostess last night at an enjoyable party when they bade more than a dozen guests to dinner and an evening of contract. The affair was held in the home of Mrs. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke, who are traveling abroad, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Bailey visiting the Kings from Ventura, were honor guests. Strikingly simple and pretty were the decorations of Shasta daisies and tall tapers which decorated the dining table set in the comfortable living-room, and high score prizes late in the evening were presented to Mrs. D. K. Hammond and William H. Wright. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. King were Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Ada Bradford Hells, Miss Gertrude Hells, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Seaman, Miss Mary Virginia Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. George Gould, Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Braden Finch.

Home Service Give Yourself a Pronunciation Quiz

Recently we printed a letter from a man who signed himself "Disillusioned" objecting to the "gold-digging" which has been going on since space requirements prevented our printing an answer at that time, here it is now:
Can it be that "Disillusioned" has been asleep for 15 or 20 years, or is he going about with one eye open, just picking out the exceptional "disillusioned" wife who flits by occasionally?

My circle of friends and acquaintances include wealthy persons, professional people, those of the middle class and those who have no worldly goods and must work hard for the dollars they earn, and they are mbered by the several hundred. In not one single instance do I know of a gold-digger wife. I know many wives who work and sacrifice to rear families or help to enlarge the nest egg for a rainy day.

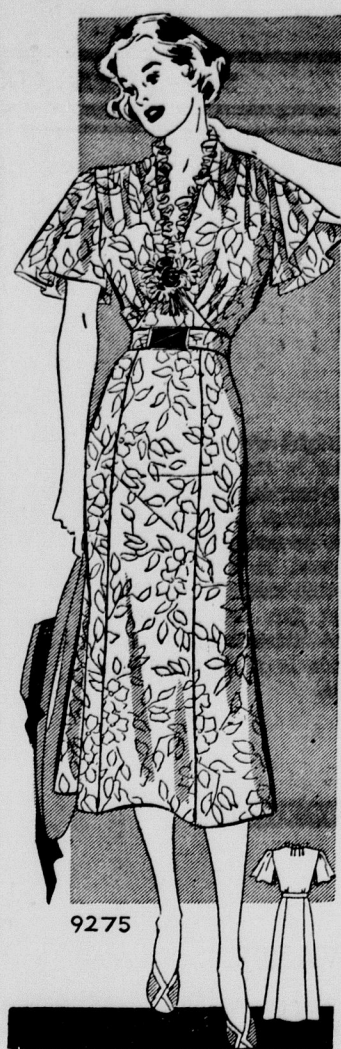

Is it any more criminal for a woman to have a fur coat or a diamond ring than it is for a husband to have an expensive car or a yacht?

Is it any worse for a woman to have a few "luxuries" than it is for a man to spend money at clubs or at betting and gambling? Let me also say that in this position I receive letters from wives in all stations of society. I receive letters from the husbands, too, but the bulk of their problems are not in regard to "gold-digging" wives.

Let me say, too, that the letter I printed from the mother signed "Mary Ann" is not an exception. I receive several or so from "highly" "medicocrity" and "not" "medicocrity."

There's a brief letter in this morning's mail. It's short, but very much to the point. And it seems to be the very same problem that faces most young couples when they consider marriage.

Unfortunately, "Very Anxious" didn't give us very much information about herself, the young man, or the detailed conditions upon which we can really base any advice.

Dear Mary: I'm going with a boy that wants to marry me right away. I think an awful lot of him, but I feel we should wait until we have a little more to start on. And, too, my folks are opposed to me marrying him.

My friend insists we marry right away or not at all. At the present time I'm not living at home and am working and doing fairly well. Should I go ahead and marry the boy against my parents' wishes, with scarcely nothing to start on now, or should I take the risk of losing my friend for good, just for the sake of my folks and because he is no millionaire? I'll eagerly wait for your advice.

VERY ANXIOUS.
If I were a mind reader I might give you some constructive advice. However, I can read between the lines of your letter just a wee bit.

You are both very young, aren't you? You are making a fair salary and your boy friend is not. In your marriage you would be assuming most of the responsibility and your parents do not feel that this is a fair bargain. The young man thinks it is a very good bargain so he is attempting to rush the ceremony by saying that it is "Now or never." He knows you love him. Does he love you as much? No, he does not or he would wait to wait until you could have some of the things a bride is entitled to.

You'd better consider your parents' advice and remember, if the young man truly loves you he will wait, not a month but a year or two years, if necessary.

Recently we printed a letter from a man who signed himself "Disillusioned" objecting to the "gold-digging" which has been going on since space requirements prevented our printing an answer at that time, here it is now:

Can it be that "Disillusioned" has been asleep for 15 or 20 years, or is he going about with one eye open, just picking out the exceptional "disillusioned" wife who flits by occasionally?

My circle of friends and acquaintances include wealthy persons, professional people, those of the middle class and those who have no worldly goods and must work hard for the dollars they earn, and they are mbered by the several hundred. In not one single instance do I know of a gold-digger wife. I know many wives who work and sacrifice to rear families or help to enlarge the nest egg for a rainy day.

Is it any more criminal for a woman to have a fur coat or a diamond ring than it is for a husband to have an expensive car or a yacht?

Is it any worse for a woman to have a few "luxuries" than it is for a man to spend money at clubs or at betting and gambling? Let me also say that in this position I receive letters from wives in all stations of society. I receive letters from the husbands, too, but the bulk of their problems are not in regard to "gold-digging" wives.

Let me say, too, that the letter I printed from the mother signed "Mary Ann" is not an exception. I receive several or so from "highly" "medicocrity" and "not" "medicocrity."

LORENE FRENCH HOME FROM LONG JOURNEY

Miss Lorene French, 1002 West Fifth street, returned to her home yesterday after a four-week vacation, during which she traveled 9000 miles.

She journeyed to Detroit by train, met friends there and drove with them through New England. The party took the North Shore road from Boston to Maine, then crossed the Mohawk trail through the Berkshire hills.

In Maine, Miss French visited Belfast, the home of three generations of her family. Going into Canada, they visited Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa and Callander to visit the grandparents. They returned to the United States via Toronto and Niagara Falls, driving back to California in the same party.

SUPPER CLUB MEETS AT HORTON HOME

When Mr. and Mrs. Chester Horton entertained their monthly supper bridge club last evening, they added Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Russell to their guest list. A potluck dinner was served at a table prettily decorated with petunias, and high score prizes went to Mrs. Mervyn Bryte and the hostess.

Guests of the Hortons were Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Conklin, Dr. and Mrs. E. Lee Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Mervyn Bryte, and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Glines.

TWO TOROSA MEETINGS TOLD

Officers and the degree staff of Torosa Rebekah lodge will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. in the I. O. O. F. hall for a potluck supper and meeting for practice. Mrs. Olive Patton of Fullerton, district deputy to include and Mrs. Edna Glunwald of Fullerton, deputy marshal, will be honored guests.

Regular meeting of the lodge will be held the following night, Wednesday, at which time a free movie will be shown.

Agnes and Annes Pugh, Francesville, Ind., sisters, are air line stewardesses.

O. S. JOHNSTONS WILL RETURN NEXT WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Johnston plan to return to their home, 1244 South Broadway, next week after making an extended vacation trip during the past six weeks.

Leaving about the middle of June, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston traveled north to Seattle where they took a steamer for an Alaskan cruise. On their return trip they have been motoring slowly down the Pacific coast, stopping at various points of interest.

They are now attending the young people's conference at Mt. Hermon in the Sierras, and are returning to their home in the afternoon bridge party at 12:30 p. m.

WHITE SHRINE LUNCH

Members of the White Shrine will meet for a luncheon in the Masonic Temple Tuesday noon. Luncheon will be served for business people at 12 o'clock, and for those desiring to remain for the afternoon bridge party at 12:30 p. m.

SPECIAL AND REGULAR SUNDAY SERVICES IN SANTA ANA CHURCHES

EDITOR TALKS AT SERVICE

A. W. Dellquest

In a change from the scheduled program of lectures to be delivered for the Institution of Liberal Religion, A. W. Dellquest, associate editor of the Pacific Coast Viking, will deliver the address tomorrow night in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets at 8 o'clock.

"Conservatism and Commerce" will be the subject of Dellquest's lecture, which will substitute for that of Harry Ferrell who was originally scheduled as the speaker for tomorrow. His talk, postponed because of his illness, will be delivered at a future date.

Dellquest is the author of two books which were published by the Blue Ribbon Book company of New York, and in 1936 syndicated a column for Canadian newspapers. He is both a staff writer and associate editor of the Viking, a monthly tabloid which reports the activities of Scandinavian residents in Pacific Coast states.

An active layman in the Los Angeles Unitarian church, Dellquest assisted in the establishment of the local institute under the auspices of the Unitarian Laymen's league. He was born in Massachusetts, moved to Georgia for a time, then moved to Los Angeles in 1922 where he completed his education at the University of California.

In addition to the interlude of harp music played at each institute session by Miss Regina Walberg of Fullerton, cello and piano selections will be played by Thor Walberg and Harold Walberg.

THORNE IN THE FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

Israel's Deliverance—and Ours

We have been looking at the earlier life of Moses, a leader to be of a great people, but what about the people themselves at this time? The basis for our lesson is found in Exodus 11, 12.

In a certain sense Pharaoh was afraid of the Hebrew people. The Egyptians always kept in mind the fact that they might prove strong enough to overthrow the ruling powers and set up their own government. Why, then, was he not glad to let them go when he had the chance to be rid of them? Perhaps he considered only the loss in man power which would result in a loss of wealth for the Egyptians. But he did just what we people down through the ages have done and are doing in our day—he failed to consider what it would cost if he did not let them go.

But Moses is now in Egypt ready for his work of leading Israel to their deliverance from bondage. This task called first for dealing with Pharaoh and securing his consent. This called for much delay as Pharaoh was unwilling to lose these slaves whose labor was of great value to him and who were doing certain forms of work that was too menial for the Egyptians. If he should let them go who would do this work? His consent cannot be secured except at the cost of much divine judgment. So Moses becomes the agent of bringing plague after plague upon him and his people. Each time he would refuse, and as a result of an unchanging divine law, this meant the hardening of his heart.

But Israel is to be delivered. Nine plagues are sent and resisted by Pharaoh—water turned to blood, the frogs, the lice, the fleas, murrain upon the cattle, boils, hail, locusts and darkness. It would be interesting to look at these plagues separately, but space forbids. The tenth, and last one, however, is now coming on. The Lord instructs Moses and he instructs the people. In all of these plagues the Lord separates between the Israelites and the Egyptians, and the land of Goshen is always free from the plague. But in this last one, the Israelites have a part to perform in order to free themselves from the first of their national ceremonial sacramental feasts, the first step in their national organization, a memorial of the past and pledge of the future.

The tenth plague is probably the one most familiar in our minds—the death of the first born. "About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt; and all the first born in the land of Egypt shall die, from the first born of Pharaoh that sitteth on the throne, even unto the first born of the maid servant that is behind the mill; and all the first born of beasts." But no death shall occur among the children of Israel. This will bring Pharaoh down and he will let them go.

Israel is now to have a New Year's day, the beginning of their independence and national life and they are to have an annual feast to commemorate and celebrate this deliverance and beginning. They are given instruction for the observance of their first Passover feast which was to be in connection with their leaving Egypt. It is to be (in part) an annual feast. It is easy to forget. We forget the sorrows of bondage in the joys of freedom, and we soon come to neglect the deliverer. When generations are concerned, except there be some reminder and retelling, even great and important events are forgotten.

incidents will be forgotten. The incident has its values that must be preserved. It is far more than an incident that is to be closed when it is accomplished. It is a revelation from God, and of God in His care and leadership of his people—those who believe and obey him. And so we have the great Passover memorial set up. "And ye shall observe this thing for an ordinance forever." Years

THE DOGS WERE STILL—There are two interesting incidents that took place at this time. It's when the borrowing "busin' us" started. "And every man and woman shall borrow from her neighbor"—Exodus 11:2.

The other was when the dogs were still: "Against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move its tongue"—Ex. 11:7. That really was a miracle for dogs always bark, especially at night when something is afoot. These dogs probably had been encouraged to harass the Israelites, and no doubt had chased many a one. But when they left, all was still. These "hated slaves" were going about everywhere, yet every dog put his tail between his legs and slunk off in the darkness. Now was that the last time God has silenced loud-mouthed opposers of those who were carrying out His orders.

later, when Jesus became the actual Paschal Sacrifice on the cross, it was continued in the Christian communion service, the Lord's supper.

This Passover was to be vastly more than a ceremony or a mere performance to be gone through. How sad that men so easily and quickly fall into formality and lose so many of the great revelations and meanings of life. Among other things, this was also to be a great and effective opportunity of education to the children. Its observance would create interest and question on the part of children and the adult is to meet this with explanation and instruction. "We shall say, It is the sacrifice of the Lord's passover who passed over the houses of the children of Israel." It is God's purpose that His truth shall be taught and passed on from generation to generation. It is the responsibility of the adult to tell the child. I wonder if we are assuming that children "cannot understand" and are failing to explain many of these things of Christianity and of the church?

Our lesson today is the record of an incident in Israel's history which occurred hundreds of years ago. But it is more than history and concerns more than Israel. It is a historic parable, symbolic of a great event which was to follow which was to be of immense importance.

portance to all the world. Paul connects the incident with Christ and His crucifixion when he speaks of "Christ our passover." John the Baptist introduced Him as "The Lamb of God..." Jesus connected himself with the Passover supper when he lifted out the bread and wine and gave them new meaning in reference to His flesh and blood.

Israel is a great historic example of bondage. Their suffering was almost beyond endurance; their task masters were unmercifully cruel. No wonder the cry of the slaves reached heaven and brought deliverance. But this is only a picture of the worse bondage of the human race under the fall of sin. Our present degree of political and intellectual freedom has blinded and fooled us, and we have become so used to our present state of jealousy, envy, lust, deception, selfishness, spitefulness, graft, unfairness, class hatred and unrighteousness that we forget that we—in our boasted civilization—may be in a far more serious bondage than that of Israel in Egypt. The slavery of Egypt was but a mere shadow to the slavery of habits and sin. We say that Pharaoh and his taskmasters were cruel, but what about Satan and his hosts? While men glory in their state and brag of their freedom and accomplishments, they are bound in chains and are going forward in their death march. If the death angel were to pass through the land in one great sweep, the facts would be revealed.

But we may prepare our doorposts. The Lamb has been slain. Christ our Passover has made the sacrifice and given His life for ours. Whosoever will accept will be eternally safe; he may go out free forever.

'CHURCH, HOME' UNION TOPIC

With the First Christian church, Sixth and Broadway streets, as the location of the weekly union services, the Rev. E. A. Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon on "The Church and the Home" at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The musical program, under the direction of the First Christian church, will consist of an anthem sung by the combined choirs of the First Christian and the Orange Avenue Christian churches, and solos by Clinton Campbell. Campbell was a member of the Cardinal quartet of Chapman college which gave a daily radio program for the past two years.

Dr. Kelly will explain the place of the church and the home, stressing the importance of religion in the home. "The home is now endangered by present day conditions which threaten to destroy or engulf it. Both the church and the home must work hand-in-hand to assure its security in the future," Dr. Kelly explained last night.

DRUGGING FISH...
Fishberries, the fruit of the East Indian climbing plant known as "Anamirta Coccinella," contain picrotoxin, a narcotic poison. Dropped into ponds or streams, dried fishberries stupefy any fish in the immediate vicinity, making them easy prey to be caught by hand. The "drugging" method of fishing is widely practiced throughout India.

A LUCKLESS LIBEL
William Dean Howells when a boy worked as a typesetter in his father's printing office; but it is reported that on one occasion his services brought near-disaster upon his father's establishment. Young Howells was supposed to set up the line: "The showers at Martin's Ferry last week, though copious, were not sufficient for the millmen." Unfortunately, when he came to the last word, he set it up "milkmen!"

Dear Judge: Ever know a Townsend club that didn't have a couple factions carrying on a feud?
OLD UNCLE NED.
The Townsend club at Sitting Bull, Mont., is always peaceful. All the members are Indians, and there's nothing for them to fight about. They've already got their 200 bucks.

Cutwork That's Anything But Work

PATTERN 5503

"Cutwork without bars?" Exactly—and that's the very reason this lovely wild rose design for dollies or buffet set is so easy to do. So encouraging, too, for the beginner who'd like to try her hand at it. Aren't they life-like—these roses? Delicate shades of pink would be most realistic, of course, but the pattern is no less lovely if worked in thread to match your linen. A refreshment table set with these, would be most tempting! In pattern 5503 you will find a transfer pattern of a dolly 11 x 17½ inches and one and one reverse dolly 6 x 9 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Let's Discuss the Citrus Problem

The frost disaster in Orange county last January left a lot more trouble for orange growers than simply frozen fruit.

It left the problem of a more equitable standardization system—a problem that demands solution if the bitter feeling now aflame in the citrus belt is ever to be appeased.

Stricken with the loss of tons of oranges and the cold cash which this represents, hundreds of growers are not only dissatisfied, but also are hot under the collar.

One complaint deals with the uniformity of inspection. There has been such a wide variation in results where ordinary equality has been expected, that many grove owners and fruit shippers are honestly upset and indignant.

They feel that the frost did not fall on the just and unjust, but instead dropped with discriminating application.

This variation, often as not, is blamed on inspection methods.

There is a hesitancy to admit the infallibility of the fluoroscope, and certainly the human equation is not always perfect.

Therefore, argue the growers, a more satisfactory method of inspection must be found.

Another criticism deals with the differential in sugar content, which imposes a higher requirement on valencias from Orange county than from other orange growing areas.

The law was changed in 1933 requiring this county to supply an 8 to 1 ratio, while leaving it as low as 6 to 1 in some other counties.

This is said to work a hardship on home agriculture.

The Journal has stood consistently for enforcement of the standardization act.

We believe that a restricted shipment of high quality fruit at good prices is far better for the industry than a larger shipment of orchard run stuff at demoralized prices.

There is no question in our minds about the value of this principle. And we believe most of the growers, even those hardest hit by the freeze and the condemnation law, feel the same way about it.

But it may be true, as many claim, that the standardization act itself is not set up so as to give orange men in this county the best break.

Certainly this issue—of vital importance since Orange county is practically the home of the valencia orange which is the largest contribution to our prosperity—should be discussed openly and without rancor.

It is our observation that Agricultural Commissioner Tubbs and his aides are doing what their jobs demand to the best of their ability.

At the same time, we can see that many growers consider themselves unfairly handicapped and hurt by inspection methods and the law itself.

Why wouldn't it be possible for the men most concerned—the growers and packers themselves—to get together with the leaders of the citrus industry and the state officials for a frank conference on the matter with the view of settling what is best and fairest for Orange county.

It's a multi-million-dollar question, and the three-way controversy between the state authorities and the "pro" and "con" citrus growers is not producing anything but hard feelings.

Those who remember how Coach Howard Jones' great Trojan football team blew up several years ago can sympathize with Farley's feelings as the New Deal team starts running the wrong way with the supreme court football.

Success Story in Headlines

We are indebted to the San Francisco News for illustrating the law of success by a quotation from the biographer Emil Ludwig's book on Napoleon.

Napoleon had escaped from Elba and was marching on the capital of France. Here is how the banner-line writers of Paris played the story on successive days:

"The Monster has escaped from his place of exile."

"The Corsican werewolf has landed at Cannes."

"The Tiger appeared at Gap; troops were sent against him; the wretched adventurer ended his career in the mountains."

"The fiend has actually, thanks to treachery, been able to get as far as Grenoble."

"The tyrant has reached Lyons, where horror paralyzed all attempts at resistance."

"The usurper has dared to advance within 150 miles of the capital."

Bonaparte moves northward with rapid strides, but he will never reach Paris."

"Tomorrow Napoleon will be at our gates."

"His imperial and royal majesty arrived yesterday at the Tuileries, amid the acclamation of his joyful and faithful subjects."

Asked for a statement, Napoleon said: "As far as Grenoble I was an adventurer; at Grenoble I was a prince."

Strikes must be going 'sissy.' Five Massachusetts strike exhorters have been arrested for "hurling epithets."

Nation's Capitol

ROOSEVELT'S DEFEAT MAKES TORY DREAM

WASHINGTON.—Within the space of a cat-nap on Thursday afternoon, the senate cast two roll-call votes. First the senate overrode Roosevelt's veto of a bill extending low interest rates to farmers. Immediately thereafter the senate sent the supreme court enlargement plan back to committee for burial.

Record votes were taken on both questions. The veto was overridden by a vote of 71 to 19. The enlargement plan was killed by practically the same vote, 70 to 20.

If you don't like Roosevelt, you can build a comforting picture out of these two votes. Beaten twice within an hour, once with only 19 loyal votes sustaining him and again with only 20 votes against killing the supreme court plan, Roosevelt's large majority in the senate might appear to have melted down like a high collar in a Washington summer. Roosevelt's done for. All but a score of his senate friends have to out on him. It makes a sweet Tory dream.

IT DOESN'T ADD UP

That is, until you look over the roll-calls, and see who is voting how. Then you discover that the facts are not what they seem and don't add up.

Those loyal votes, 19 on one roll-call and 20 on the other. Who are these last-ditch loyal Roosevelt supporters? The fact is that, except for four senators, an entirely different crowd stood with him on his veto from the crowd which stood with him on the court. There was no relationship at all between the two roll-calls. Only by accident did the totals happen to be almost identical.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Who supported Roosevelt's veto of the low-interest subsidy to farmers? One was Burke of Nebraska, leader of the fight against Roosevelt's court plan. There was Gerry, Rhode Island millionaire Tory Democrat over whose dinner table anti-court plan senators discussed their strategy for beating Roosevelt. Another was King of Utah, who signed the judiciary committee report denouncing the Roosevelt court plan as an assault against every sacred tradition of democracy. There was O'Mahoney of Wyoming, who helped write that savage report.

And, my friends, there was also among those present that great supporter of the President, Senator Arthur Vandenberg in person, the Republican Vandenberg, who is a leading prospect for the Republican presidential nomination next time.

Those are some of the loyal 19 who went down to defeat fighting to uphold the hands of Roosevelt. Oh, yes, I almost forgot one other. Senator Barkley, the new Democratic leader, stood by the President. The funny thing about that is that less than a month ago Barkley led the fight that put this vetoed bill through the senate. He spoke for the arguments which Roosevelt then advanced against it. Barkley worked just as energetically then to put the President in a hole as he did Thursday, unsuccessfully, to pull him out of it.

BARKLEY A KILLER

Now the court vote, those 70 votes against Roosevelt. Who were they? Pass over Ashurst, who has been on both sides and is proud of it. But there is Barkley, the new senate leader. He voted to kill the supreme court bill. Minton, one of the most ardent champions of the bill, and the last to admit defeat, voted to bury the bill. As did other friends of the bill, like Pepper and Wagner, and Logan, who introduced the slow-motion compromise. Logan made the fillicidal motion to recommit his bill to the grave.

NOT A TRUE TEST

Neither vote was in any sense a test of Roosevelt strength.

On the court vote the battle had been lost and administration forces themselves joined with opponents in removing the body.

On overriding the veto, only a few thick-and-thin economists, mostly conservatives, stood by the President. Not that the deserters have really turned against him. Simply that Democratic senators are politicians first and administration Democrats second. The farm vote and the veteran vote are sacred in American politics. When anything affecting them is up, it is every man for himself. No accounting of such votes is kept in the good book at the White House. Everyone is excused. It is an old American custom.

Howdy, folks! It's easy to entertain convention guests. All you have to do is to help them find the right kind of postcards to send back home to the folks.

The best way is to find them a picture postcard of their hotel. Then all they have to do is to draw a mark on one of the windows and write: "X marks my room in the hotel."

"This sort of thing can't go on," announced the 220-pounder, as she tried to struggle into her slim sister's one-piece bathing suit.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER THE EARLY BIRD

The early-rising summer sun that bounces in at my window all too soon after midnight, these gorgeous mornings, wakens a great horde of other creatures long before it penetrates sluggish sensibilities.

Even before I am well awake I can hear the murmurs and the chirps of the birds and the tiny neighbors who must rustle their breakfast before they can eat it.

I've learned this summer that competition for breakfast is pretty keen among the tiny furred and feathered folk who inhabit the bushes, trees and meadows just outside my bedroom window.

The robins, wrens, titmousses, squirrels and chipmunks always look well fed, and all of them seem to have time enough to spare so that they can stop occasionally to take a look at the things. The robins and swifts, I know, have their own special hunting grounds and their own special perches. The game of tag turns into something resembling combat if a strange robin alights on a certain patch of lawn, or if a strange swallow stops to rest on a certain bare branch that is the sky homestead of one certain family.

The chipmunks and squirrels are never far from their own home grounds. They do not, popular opinion notwithstanding, go gallivanting off across the landscape, sleeping in whatever hollow log happens to be handy, and eating whatever may come their way.

No, the little fellows, both feathered and furred, have ideas about home that are, I am convinced, quite as definite as those of the human animal. They may and probably do go on exploring trips past the fringes of their home localities. But I think it is certain that the grounds of one family do not overlap the grounds of another family of another family.

I have always regarded the robin as the leading character in the old maxim which says that "the early bird catches the worm." The early bird that catches the worm, I am positive, is not up and around earlier than his fellows because he is more ambitious, more alert or more acquisitive. The real fact of the matter undoubtedly is that he went to bed the night before just a mite hungrier than they.

And then there was the absent-minded professor who shaved twice before he discovered there was no blade in his razor.

So Robinson appointed Barkley and as Harrison had predicted, the administration was very much pleased, indeed.

SIT-DOWN PRECAUTIONS

With the reduction of relief rolls, Harry Hopkins is taking special measures to protect himself against invasions of sit-downers.

The reception clerk at the WPA building in Washington has been moved to a desk in the entrance hall and given special instructions to stop and question all strangers. If she needs any assistance, there are two armed guards standing beside her.

Looking beyond the present cotton crop, AAA officials are beginning to wonder if they have any effective control in their hands. If present trends continue, cotton production may get completely out of bounds, and bring a disastrous price drop. Wallace is definitely worried.

Control was tight under the Bankhead act, but the supreme court threw that out of the window in January, 1936, and today there are just 6,000,000 more acres planted in cotton than there were in 1935. A similar expansion next year would bring the acreage dangerously close to the levels of five years ago, when cotton sold for 6 cents.

The present control method—making diversion payments to farmers who take cotton land out of production—is largely ineffective in areas where the yield is high. If a farmer knows he will get a good yield, he is not interested in a diversion payment of 5 cents a pound when he can grow the cotton and sell it for 12 cents.

Most sensational is the expansion in California, where production was insignificant until two years ago. Present acreage indicates a leap from 370,000 acres last year to 618,000 this year. Yields are high in California, and growers scorn a diversion payment of 5 cents a pound.

While production figures are creeping up again, exports continue to decline.

WOODCOISM The mysteries of Voodooism have been probed by writers on relief. When WPA publishes its American Guide covering New Orleans, it will offer the reading public a delectable account of a Voodoo drug store in New Orleans with an inventory of its potions.

The WPA writer apparently entered the drug store, bought a vial of Love Oil, and came away with that and a list of other charms offered for sale. For 50 cents, one can buy Controlling Powder, Courtship Powder, Dragon's Blood, Delight Powder, or Luck Around Business. For the same price, one can choose between Get Together Powder and Separation Powder.

Gambler's Luck is somewhat more expensive, however, costing 75 cents. Equally expensive is French Love Powder, and it costs a full dollar to purchase Dice Special.

Lucky Jazz, Love and Success Powder, Three Cross Powder, and the Sixth and Seventh Year of Moses are all offered for a dollar. Most expensive potion on the entire list is Easy Life Powder. This costs $2.50.

Incidentally, the business thus revealed by WPA is illicit. (Copyright, 1937)

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC

To the Editor: An open letter to F. M. McCarthey of Columbus, Ohio, and to every citizen of this republic. Dear Mr. McCarthey: I have read with much interest your article in the National Voice of July 1. Yes, we should "get together—stick together—and vote together at the ballot box." But under whose banner shall we march?

Since the first account we have of man, there has been two antagonistic forces striving for supremacy, Truth and Falsehood. The leader of one is Christ, the light of the world; the leader of the other is Satan, the father of lies, that comes as a wolf in sheep's clothing and with such stealth and cunning that "the very elect may be deceived," and whose favorite project for debauching mankind is the drink traffic. "The wages of which are eternal death, exceeding than those of war, pestilence and famine combined," and which can live and fatten on the life blood of the nation only with the consent and cooperation of the party in power.

As God is not a respecter of persons and His law is unchanging, the only Savior man ever had or can have from the effect of Satan's lies is a party of people so endowed with the spirit of Truth that they will stand united for justice and liberty to all.

Many years ago there was developed in this nation a party that pledged its efforts to subvert the liquor traffic and to give to women equal political rights with men. By the teaching of non-partisanship, a doctrine that tends to put man on a level with the donkey and the ox, the minds of the people were so poisoned, as in the days of Adam, that the prohibition party was rejected and crucified between two liquor parties, and largely by the very people who should be its friends and supporters. As our Bible teaches, and today America is in hell as never before.

But, we have the promise that the Savior shall return. Whenever we will march with Christ, the light of the world, to the ballot box and the pulpit, and place in power a party, the leaders of which will pledge their honor to overthrow the liquor power, the Savior will be here to rule. Then when we have the courage and the wisdom to send to the home of its author, that old serpent, "thy head," that arch traitor to Truth and Patriotism, that most deadly enemy Democracy has ever had to contend with, the Anti-Saloon league; the leaders of which are servants of Satan, then can the democracy live and bless the nations of the earth and we will prove to the world that our ancestors, the founders of this Republic did not live and die in vain, and that there flows in the veins of their descendants blood so rich in patriotism that we demand to the last drop the heritage they so generously bequeathed to us, a government of, for and by the people and not for and by the liquor and other selfish interests. Let us arouse from the stupor that comes from listening to false leaders and let us play the part of loyal American citizens, then and not until then have we a right to pray "Thy kingdom come on earth." O. U. HULL, Orange.

HE IS CALLING HIS AIDS

He is calling his aids. They are in a huddle. Something important on the fire. They have that gleam of conspirators. Eureka! One bright waiter has an original idea. He's tearing off the end of a menu, folding it, and will slip it under the wobbly leg. Isn't that wonderful? Just like that he sees distress and thinks that up right out of his own head. Now he's sliding it under a leg. From the way the old Colonel is twitching, he must have gotten hold of his gummy boot. Now he's fixed it. And is coming up for air. Beaming and dusting off his hands.

Yes, he's fixed it! Fixed it so the slightest tilt and wobble get the dishes in our laps. But never mind, they are holding another conference. And have called in a Professional Sigher. He's the buckaroo who drops to his knees, looks under the table and sighs. This seems a problem. He's scratching his head as much as to say: "Man and boy, I've run into some tough table jiggling in my day, but this baby is a lulu." Now, he's darting to the kitchen. Something is going to break soon. There's a fellow with determination. You have a feeling that when he starts to do something he does it. No monkey doodling. One of the Wonder Boys.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

JULY 24, 1912

WASHINGTON.—Shall shipping controlled more or less by the railroads be excluded from the use of the Panama canal and shall ships engaged in the coastwise trade be permitted to use the canal free of toll, these problems shortly to be solved by the senate when the bill "providing for the opening, maintenance, protection and operation of the Panama canal" is taken up for consideration by the upper branch of congress.

STOCKHOLM.—James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian school student, proved himself the greatest all-around athlete of the world in the Olympic decathlon, which provided a variety of tests of speed, strength, and quickness.

G. W. Garland spent the day at Newport and Balboa on a real estate deal.

Mrs. L. Dwyer, accompanied by her little daughter, arrived from Rifle, Colo., Sunday morning. Her husband is an employe at the sugar factory here.

J. A. McFadden, who with his wife is spending the summer at Catalina Island, came to Santa Ana for the week-end and returned to the island this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. White and her daughter, Effie, went to Catalina today for a few days' outing.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

Sir Robert Walpole, one of England's greatest ministers, always said that every man had his price. One day during a debate in the house of commons he turned to Mr. Levison, and said to him: "You see with what zeal and vehemence these gentlemen oppose, and yet I know the price of every man in this house, except three, and your brother, Lord Gower, is one of them."

WHIMSIES

NEW YORK.—This restaurant

table is a bit jiggly. But that's likely to happen anywhere. Wood will warp. No matter how we carp. That's sneaking over a bit of poetry with the greatest of ease, the daring young man—all this doesn't make sense. I'm getting confused.

But what can one expect? Invite a few friends you want to impress to dine and the head waiter plops you down at a jiggly table. I don't know whether to get mad, have a good cry or take it smiling and wait that great calm that has made me famous as Oscar The Iron Nerved Boy.

That last time I lost my temper in a restaurant I clapped my hands for the head waiter sharply and when he came on the run I started to say "See here," and my voice squeaked up into the peep of a flute. So much so a lady at the next table jumped, thinking she had stepped on a cat.

If one can get through the soup with a jiggly table, it is fairly easy sailing from then on. But it seems to be getting worse here—I mean the jiggling. See saw, Marjorie Daw. Certainly a hunk of jigggle. Maybe it would be better for all of us, if they brought us rockers.

Keeps up this way, they'll have to lassio us some time for the check. We are teetering toward the door. Be fun if just as we reached the cashier we'd vanish in a sudden swoot. Sidewalk diners in one slide! I must talk to my guests so they won't get a panic. Keep the orchestra playing. As Bing Crosby says: "Chin up, white tie for dinner, carry on." I've heard of tables groaning but this is the first one I ever saw pull a St. Vitus dance. Maybe his waiter captain, the one with the outstanding ears, could do something. I'll clear my throat and ask him.

He is calling his aids. They are in a huddle. Something important on the fire. They have that gleam of conspirators. Eureka! One bright waiter has an original idea. He's tearing off the end of a menu, folding it, and will slip it under the wobbly leg. Isn't that wonderful? Just like that he sees distress and thinks that up right out of his own head. Now he's sliding it under a leg. From the way the old Colonel is twitching, he must have gotten hold of his gummy boot. Now he's fixed it. And is coming up for air. Beaming and dusting off his hands.

Yes, he's fixed it! Fixed it so the slightest tilt and wobble get the dishes in our laps. But never mind, they are holding another conference. And have called in a Professional Sigher. He's the buckaroo who drops to his knees, looks under the table and sighs. This seems a problem. He's scratching his head as much as to say: "Man and boy, I've run into some tough table jiggling in my day, but this baby is a lulu." Now, he's darting to the kitchen. Something is going to break soon. There's a fellow with determination. You have a feeling that when he starts to do something he does it. No monkey doodling. One of the Wonder Boys.

There he is back again with a wooden block. When he gets that shaved down he is going to have something. He is sighting again on one knee. Going to be certain he is right this time. A master workman like that must make that simpleton with the torn end of the menu feel mighty third rate. He's probably out in the alley hanging his head.

Once to every man comes the Big Opportunity—and the poor torn menu boob muffed it. Now the wooden block man has vanished under the table. Everything is going to be perfectly dandy soon. They can heat up the food and we'll have a jolly dinner after all. Like fun, we'll be got the table hiked up higher than a cat's back. Like one of those chalets teetering on an Alpine crag. Somebody is going to suffer for this. A whole evening soured because of a teeny weeny tilt in a table. I hope they don't jiggle me into one of my moods. I feel it would be dour.

Here comes the head waiter. He has a plan. I love people with plans. But from where I sit he doesn't look like anything is passing through his head but a breeze. He's studying the situation. Quiet, please. The Thinker. A light breaking. Stand back, men; and give him air. Keep those boys away from the guy ropes. See! He has the solution. He is going to give us another table. There, mesdames et messieurs, stands genius!

A new home air purifier takes carbon pollen, dust, smoke and other particles. Air for the room is drawn in through a high-voltage ionizer, a chamber cylindrical in shape, and the charged particles are attracted to and collect on the electrified plates. Supposed to be a boon for persons suffering from hay fever, it will soon reach the market.
